Three Sailors Swim 8 Hours To Reach Shore

Stagger Out Of Surf At Atlantic City After Dramatic Struggle

DORY OVERTURNED IN BATTLE AT SEA

Rush Coast Guard Aid To Sinking Schooner Off Coast

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.,

Aug. 27.—Three sailors from a foundered ship staggered out of the surf here today after swimming eight hours from the time their lifeboat overturned.

Clad in tattered trousers and shirts, the trio barely reached the beach when their knees buckled under them and they fell exhausted.

Terrific Storm

They were huskies from Halifax, Nova Scotia, and told a tale of a terrific storm and a sinking ship with four other men aboard.

The men were John Larre, 24; Clarence Atkinson, 27, and Freeman Bonbury, 24, of the Schooner Francis T.

A coastguard boat set out immediately to search for the Francis T. off the coast.

The sailors, after food and hot drinks, told of how the schooner sailed from Halifax two weeks ago with a cargo of merchandise for Bermuda.

An August 19 they were caught in a terrible storm off the coast and the vessel was disabled. Spreading seams began to let the ocean in and the crew of seven worked like galley slaves to keep the pumps working.

Three Try For Shore

They told how the skipper of the Francis T. decided last night that the three of them should try and make their way to shore in the ship's dory. The schooner was estimated by the trio as being about sixteen miles offshore and somewhere south of Atlantic City. She was sinking. So the three put off in their boat

Construction work on the A. T. & T. underground conduit system in this city will result in new sidewalks being built along State street from Greenwood to Grant streets. The conduit system is being laid under the sidewalk on the south side of the street.

New Castle citizens will heartily join with Troop F and those interested in the advancement of the troop at the present time in their move to secure an armory for this city. This project should be put up to the state legislature next winter in a way that will get results. New Castle has had a military unit for many years, and is one of the few cities in the state that has a military unit that has no state armory.

Some driver of an auto, either drunk or bewildered, didn't wait for repaved Grant street to be formally opened to traffic. Last night about 11:30 o'clock, a car was driven up Shenango street, through the barricade, onto Grant street and out to Jefferson street where another barricade was crashed, and the journey continued on Jefferson street.

Safety lines are being painted on the streets in the vicinity of the public schools in preparation for the opening of school sessions on September 8.

ARMORY PROJECT GIVEN NEW IMPETUS IN CITY

Belief that an efficient organization record by New Castle guardsmen will in the near future be instrumental in providing the long sought state armory building for which civic minded citizens of this city have worked in vain with state authorities for years, was voiced by Maj. W. F. Jackson of the dental reserve at the first formal banquet of officers and non-commissioned officers of Troop F and members of the citizens' military committee at the Elks home Tuesday evening.

Louis B. Round, chairman of the civilian committee, which is sponsoring the local unit of the 103rd cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, was toastmaster. He declared that the sponsors of the guardsmen here have a definite goal in view and that will be attained only after Troop F has been pointed out to military authorities as a leading organization in the state.

Round as well as the other speakers of the committee praised the achievement of the troop since its recent reorganization and complimented the

THREE STATES TO SEND COMPETITORS

Heralded by three years of practice rehearsals singing societies from 17 cities in three states will send nearly 80 singers and hundred of visitors and delegates to New Castle Sunday and Monday for the fourth triennial Saengerfest of the Transylvania-Saxon Saengerbund of North America.

Activity in New Castle, where the local unit of the national Saengerbund, the Eintracht Singing Society, will play host to the 3,000 visitors and delegates, has increased greatly during the last few days of preparation.

The local committee of arrangement for the huge affair, headed by John Lienert, president; John Neugebauer, treasurer and Martin Leonhardt, secretary, is completing last minute plans.

Meeting Tonight

A final meeting of the committee will be held in Eintracht hall, Taylor street, this evening, when pertinent facts and final details of the Saengerfest plans will be outlined.

A meeting of the badge committee was held Tuesday evening. Members of this committee are John Neugebauer, William Figuly and Paul Stadel.

A final rehearsal of the two local singing societies, the Eintracht and the woman's organization, the Frohsinn Damachor, will be held in the hall Thursday evening.

An auto show is like a checker game in comparison. Think of seeing all of our finest aviators doing stunts at one show.

It will always be the one show you can go to and not have your view obstructed by a broad shouldered policeman. They can successfully keep you from seeing a prize fight, a ball game and all parades, but they can't keep you from watching an aviator.

Parked Cars Are Hauled Off Street

INTERFERE WITH STREET CLEANING

Approximately a dozen cars were towed by wreckers from downtown city streets early this morning when the city sweepers could not operate and as a result the owners had to pay storage fees to get their cars.

The city has an ordinance which prohibits parking of automobiles between midnight and six a. m. Eastern standard time.

The sweeper has been operating twice each week, on Tuesday and Friday nights.

When Councilman Treser put the sweeper into operation Treser requested cars not be parked for long periods during the hours of midnight and six a. m.

For a few nights, it is said, the autoists cooperated with the request but this morning about one dozen cars were towed from the downtown streets.

Hope To Persuade Fishing Vessel To Land With Bodies

Seek Immediate Return To Norway Of Fishing Ship With Bodies Of Explorers

(International News Service)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 27.—Efforts were under way today to induce the captain of the fishing vessel Bratvaag, carrying the bodies and equipment of the Andree ill-starred polar expedition, to terminate prematurely its fishing trip and return immediately to Norway.

Messages to that effect were radioed to the Bratvaag, which possesses receiving equipment but no outstanding facilities. Compliance with such a request would entail financial loss to the ship's owners, as the fishing season generally ends only late in September.

Dr. G. Horn, leader of the expedition which perished on the frozen remains of the 1897 Andree camp on White Island in the polar snowfields, transferred the bodies to the vessel for removal to Norway and Sweden, but it is believed he did not stipulate a direct return trip home. Consequently, should the Bratvaag's captain determine to pursue fishing activities until the end of the season, little hope remains of receiving the bodies before the end of another month.

The most interesting part of the discovery to a waiting world, perhaps, is the diary of Andree, leader of the balloon expedition. On its pages he recorded practically all adventures and experiences of the party before death overtook it.

Two-Year-Old Boy Missing

Searchers Continue Hunt For Lad, Lost Mysteriously Since Sunday

(International News Service)

COLEBROOK, Conn., Aug. 27.—The countryside for miles around this village has been beaten to the last inch, and every pond has been dragged in the search for two-year-old Kenneth Neilson Swanson, who disappeared from his grandfather's farm on Sunday, and still the searchers are without clue to the youngster. Belief is strong that the boy was kidnapped, but officials have been unable to discover a reason for the kidnapping.

Blood hounds put on the trail of the child lost his scent at a mail box opposite the yard where he was playing. The child's mother last saw him at the box, she told police. A Collier dog that has been the boy's constant companion and disappeared with him, is back. The fact that the dog made no noise when the child disappeared is taken by dog experts to mean that someone the dog knew took the child away.

A large force of state police from the Canaan Baracks is still engaged in hunting for the boy but it is believed they will abandon the search today.

German Quartet Who Flew Across Atlantic To Get Official Greeting

FLIGHT OF 4,670 MILES IS SUCCESS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Four bronzed young men who brought their lean gray seaplane over the waters of the Atlantic to rest on the sea waters lapping the skyscrapers of Manhattan were to receive words of praise today from Mayor James J. Walker.

Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau and his three companions, who flew 4,670 miles to New York, were to be received by the executive at City Hall.

Come By Way Of Iceland.

Captain Von Gronau who left the Isle of Sylt in the North Sea August 18 to fly here by way of Iceland, Greenland and Canada, computed the time of the trip as 47 hours. The German plane landed in New York Harbor yesterday afternoon and the flight was credited as the first trans-Atlantic flight ever completed with the Island of Manhattan proper as its terminal.

The Dornier-Wahl flying boat, powered with two 500-horse-power motors, made the final leg of the flight from Halifax to New York, about 600 miles, in six hours.

May Go To Chicago.

Future plans of the flyer were indefinite this morning. They said they might decide to fly later this week to Chicago to witness the National Air Races. They probably will return to Germany by steamer, as they used all supplies of gasoline which they had stored at stopping places in their flight to New York. They may also fly to Washington. The flyers expect to remain in America two weeks.

During their stay here the aviators will be the guests of the Fokker company, American representatives of Dornier.

(International News Service)

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 27.—Senator Cole L. Blease today was leading former Representative James F. Byrnes by 10,000 votes, with more than half of South Carolina's 1,528 precincts reporting in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

The early vote gave Blease 52,800 and Byrnes 42,400. Leon W. Harris was running behind with less than 20,000 votes.

A second battle between Blease and Byrnes will be staged September 9 unless late returns change the ratio of the first reports.

O. D. Johnson was leading A. Frank Lever, his closest rival, by about 10,000 votes in the race for governor. Eight candidates made the fight for office of chief executive. The early vote indicated that Johnson would make the second race against one of the seven other candidates, with Lever favored as his opponent in the run-off.

Johnson opposed the proposed $65,000,000 state highway bond issue.

Suit Is Filed To Invalidate $3500 Agreement

Claim That Undue Influence
Was Used In Getting
Hiram Holliday
To Sign

S. E. Patterson, guardian of Hiram Holliday, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Ira R. and Anna Snider of 209 West Sheridan avenue, to recover $3500, which it is claimed was paid by Holliday to the defendants as a result of undue influence.

In the statement of claim it is alleged that Holliday, who is now about 85 years of age, had made his home with Snider's since 1921. He paid the sum of $40 per month for his maintenance.

On March 4th it is claimed that he signed an agreement with Snider's by which he turned over $3500 to them in consideration of past services and future services. It is claimed by Patterson that Holliday was of feeble mind and unable to comprehend the import of the agreement. Further, that it was obtained by undue influence.

It is alleged that during the time Holliday was at Snider's he had not been sick, or in need of any special attention, and that he had paid in full for all services rendered at the time the agreement was signed.

It is claimed that he afterwards paid until friends discovered the agreement, and that he then deducted $20 per month for interest and expenses on the agreement. On December 9th, 1929 he left the home of Snider's and went to the home of his son, Frank R. Holliday of the Seventh ward.

It is asked that the agreement be declared invalid, not being supported by a valid consideration.

Some farmland was jointly owned by three women. After some private discussion among themselves the three agreed in writing to sell the land to a certain merchant in town for a stated amount. There was a pipe line on that property, but it was owned and claimed by another person in their town. For some reason the women failed to have the pipe line removed, and the merchant who was about to buy the land discovered the pipe line on it, grew angry at the women, went to them in a huff, told them he would not take the land, and then demanded his money back.

The three women were nettled. But they looked about them for another purchaser and soon they found one. When they received payment from him they immediately notified the merchant that he now would be able to get his money by calling at the town bank, where it had been deposited and, of course, upon surrendering the contract.

But about that time the merchant decided he would buy the land anyway, and when the women told him that now he could not have it, he pointed out that he still had the written contract and immediately filed suit to enforce it.

They were emphatic in their belief the men were aboard a rum runner and a coast guard vessel was ordered out to look for the "Francis T."

RELATIVE HUMIDITY AND SATURATION

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

Humidity is another word for moisture in the atmosphere. Relative humidity is the percentage of moisture in the air with reference to the temperature of the air at the time. It may range anywhere between 3 and 100 per cent. The higher the temperature, the greater is the capacity of the atmosphere for moisture or water vapor. Four per cent water vapor is the maximum the air will carry. A room 15 feet square and 10 feet high filled with saturated air, and at a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit, contains 26 pounds of water.

Set For Week End Sea Scout Course

Scouters To Gather At Camp Phillips Saturday Afternoon And Sunday

Scouters expecting to do web-footed scouting in their troops this fall and winter are asked to weigh anchor and proceed to Camp John M. Phillips along the Slippery Rock creek, Saturday afternoon. At 2 o'clock, daylight savings time, the fleet comes to anchor for the purpose of taking sea scout training.

The sea scout course for scouters and scouts of 17 years or over, under the direction of Regional Director J. L. Calahan, will continue until Sunday afternoon.

Men and older scouts who report are asked to bring blankets, toilet gear and a sharp pocketknife; also a seasoot manual if they have one. These may be purchased at the camp. The instruction periods will start at two o'clock and continue through to three o'clock the next afternoon; and credit for a "specialty course" in the leaders' five-year key degree will be given students who complete the course. J. Lee Calahan, director of seascouting for region three, will be in charge.

Seascouting is a fascinating branch of the scouting activity for boys of fifteen years and up. It uses all a boy has learned in his previous scout work, and teaches him many new activities like meteorology (weather lore), parts of boats, sea routine and customs, handling small boats under oars and sail, navigation, marlinespike seamanship and rules of the road. Because it is a more vigorous type of scouting, only older boys may work in it. Troops having leaders in the course named above, may start the work in their troops this fall; and a number of council units expect to take it up shortly.

Storm Sewer To Cost City $3,000

Louis Genkinger, city councilman, today estimated that the cost of the new storm sewer in Butler avenue will be $3,000. The sewer is being installed by Woods & Golder Construction Company, who have the repairing contract. It will extend between East Washington street to a point beyond Paul street.

City Eager For Reimbursement

$14,000 Due Contractor But
State Has Not Yet Reimbursed City

MUST BUILD SEWERS IN NORTH STREET

State highway department officials have informed the city of New Castle that another payment of $14,000 is due Woods & Golder, pursuant to their contract for the repaving of Croton avenue, Grant street and Butler avenue. The city has already paid $27,000 but as yet has not been reimbursed by the state.

Councilman Burns today stated that he had "threw out some wires" in an effort to have the state make immediate reimbursement to the city as the city hopes to have Woods & Golder commence repaving of North street between East street and Neshannock avenue as soon as Butler avenue is finished.

In connection City Engineer Miller stated that two sewers, one a storm sewer and the other a sanitary sewer must be laid in North street. The storm sewer will drain from East street to the Neshannock creek and the sanitary sewer will be a connection between the Neshannock avenue and North street system in conformity with the plans of Fuller & McClintock.

Plan Conference To Discuss Future Of Peru Politics

Reach "Showdown" Period In Rebellion; Hope To Avert Civil War

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 27.—A "showdown" between the military junta at present in control in Peru and popular Colonel Sanchez Cerro, who began his revolt that precipitated the end of former President Augusto B. Leguia's eleven year reign, was believed imminent today with reports from Lima that the rebel leader was on his way to the capital for a conference with General Manuel M. Ponce, junta head.

The conference, according to authoritative information, aimed to smoothe over Cerro's ruffled feelings and his reported convictions that the military group governing the country protem usurped the power. Hopeful of averting a threatening civil war on information that Cerro was preparing to march against the junta's forces, General Ponce persuaded the Southern army leader to abandon this drastic plan and join him in Lima to discuss jointly future action in the political affairs of Peru.

McCOLLOUGH-JOHNSON NUPTIALS AT BUTLER

Simplicity was the charming feature of a quiet wedding, which took place this morning at 10 o'clock in the home of the bride's mother, when Miss Elizabeth McCollough, daughter of the late Attorney Newton Clark McCollough and Mrs. Amelia S. McCollough of 414 North McKean street, Butler, became the bride of George Walter Johnson, son of Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson of New Castle. Rev. Henry H. Bagger, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends, Charles Johnson acting as his brother's best man.

The bride wore a fawn silk tulle traveling suit with eggshell blouse and a close fitting hat of felt in the same shade, fashioned in a beret with jagging. Her flowers were a corsage of brown orchids. She was unattended.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. Forming the centerpiece for the bridal table was a mound of pink gladioli and baby's breath, mounded with tall pink tapers in silver holders. The house had been transformed with greens and summer flowers. Gladioli and baby's breath predominated in the choice of flowers.

Mrs. Johnson attended the Birmingham School, Birmingham, Pa., and was graduated from Vassar College in June. Mr. Johnson was graduated from Haverford College with the class of 1929 and is now attending the Harvard Law school, where he is a member of the class of '32.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left after breakfast for a motor trip to points north and Canada. They will be at home the end of September in Cambridge, Mass.

Famous Swimmer's Watch Displayed In Local Jewelry Store

An exact duplicate of the Bulova Watertite watch which has received the endorsement of Johnny Weismuller, world-famous swimming champion, is on display in the windows of Jack Gerson, 18 N. Mercer St., New Castle, Pa.

Although this watch does not differ from the ordinary timepiece as far as outward appearance goes, it does something that no other watch apparently can do. This watch keeps accurate time in water as well as out of water. As a matter of fact, it is equally at home in the air, in the water, and on land.

Jack Gerson explains that the watch has met with instantaneous success because it answers a long-felt need. Doctors, dentists, nurses and sportsmen and all others who come in frequent contact with water cannot wear a watch on the wrist because of the danger of rusting the movement. This watch apparently defies moisture; it is so constructed that no water can enter the case, yet it is no bigger or thicker than a regular watch.

The watch is considered to be the last word in watchmaking construction. It is made by the Bulova Watch Company of New York for whom Gerson is authorized distributor in New Castle, Pa.

A delicious lunch was served with Mrs. T. D. Ross assisting the hostess. The honor guest received many lovely gifts.

A Super-Race? Not Soon.
 Coming, A Little Italian.
 Saving The Old Home.
 A Bright 5 Billion Spot.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
 (Copyright, 1930, King Features

Alain Gerbault, who has sailed around the world in his 36-foot boat Firecrest, has found his mission. He will start a new colony in the South Seas, and in that tropical Utopia, carefully selecting native parents, he will build up a super-race of human beings.

To carry out his plan he will have to live some time. Mother nature, wisely selecting and mixing natives of all kinds, has been trying to build up a super-race on this earth for at least 40,000,000 years, and her success thus far is not particularly brilliant. If he could live long enough, Mr. Gerbault would be surprised to find that in 10,000 years he couldn't raise the frontal angle of his "picked natives" by as much as 1 per cent.

To make a real super-race he would have to straighten those foreheads up to the perpendicular. That would take at least 100,000 years, probably 1,000,000 years.

Princess Marie Jose, crown princess of Italy, wife of the King's heir, expects a baby.

If it is a boy, and lives, it will be king some day. Mussolini, on the one hand, and possibilities of revolution on the other, permitting.

In Italy, as in France in the old days, no woman can rule.

The French Loi Salique, which prevented it, was explained politely by a French king to an inquiring woman:

"France must have no woman on the throne, because under such circumstances a man might govern France. With a man on the throne some woman will always be the real ruler, an excellent thing for the country."

In melodrama as the "old home" is about to be sold by the cruel mortgage holder, somebody comes in, pays the bill and everything ends happily.

In a modern melodrama entitled "Who Killed Prosperity?" higher income taxes for the unfortunate rich were more earnestly discussed than the plight of the poor unemployed that you always have with you.

At the critical moment came news that income taxes and other internal revenue receipts are up $101,000,000, in spite of a one per cent income tax reduction that has been in effect for six months.

Inheritance taxes paid Uncle Sam $64,760,435, and tobacco, chiefly cigars, provided $450,339,060.
 Imagine how prosperous Uncle Sam would be, if the people that want beer could get it, paying him several hundred millions a year for the privilege, instead of giving millions to bootlegging and racketeering in return for bad whiskey?

France has more gold than she needs, is gathering in tens of millions of yellow metal every week. But France is not happy. Exports are down.

Poor old Uncle Sam, increasing his tariff and expecting to increase his income, finds that his customs are cut down instead of being higher.

Britain has troubles on which the sun never sets, scattered all around the world.

If it really is "always darkest before dawn," it is about time for the dawn to break.

However, one American, known to everybody in the United States, because he is able and has made many millions and is conspicuous in politics, finds one hopeful cloud the size of a man's hand and bigger.

Broker's loans, says he, have diminished by five billions of dollars. They were eight billions in boom times. They are around three billions now. Those loans represent money that stock speculators and investors owe on stocks bought, not paid for.

If the brokers' loans dropped five billions it means that five billions have been paid and the stocks taken up. At least that is the theory.

Putting the average price of stock thus taken up at $50, this would mean that 100,000,000 shares of stock have been taken "out of the market."

Such news means little to the man out of a job, or the farmer, offered 60 cents for wheat on the farm. But it means a good deal to intelligent financiers.

Calvin Coolidge says the "whole world is benefited by the French revival of financial power. He puts in few words qualities that make the French a great people; "No one can estimate the future resources of a country that is willing to work, save, and face facts."

In addition, the French know how to think, and how to fight for their rights.
 And French statesmen do all their worrying about France. They do not worry about us, or any other country, only about France.

When this country stops worrying about other countries taking advice or instructions from them, going across the ocean to learn what the United States must do, we also may "revive."

Wolfgang Von Gronau, German financier, and his wife, three, bound for New York, arrived in Halifax yesterday. Von Gronau says his flight across the Atlantic via Iceland to Greenland was just a part of a flying lesson that he is giving.

He should turn to the right on his way to New York and land his sea plane on the smooth waters of Lake Michigan, near the Field museum, in Chicago.

The greatest air meeting in the world's history is going on there this week, and he would be warmly welcomed.

You, if you can manage it, should go out and see that gathering of world fliers.

Weakness Of Chinese Regime Emphasized In Red Struggle

Americans Watch Events In Far East With Concern For World Peace And Safety In Face Of Uncertainty In Oriental Country

American comment in connection with kaleidoscopic changes in China emphasizes the great uncertainty that is due to weakness on the part of orderly government in that country. Great things that were expected from the Nationalists, it is pointed out, have been delayed by conditions, while sections that have been somewhat removed from the current of events have been penetrated by the propagandists of communism.

"No student of recent Chinese history," declares the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, "need be surprised that the struggle now centers in the middle provinces. This vast region has been the camping ground of Communist agitators since the days of that misguided Nationalist leader, Sun Yat-Sen, who, early in the past decade, so unwisely courted Soviet aid in strengthening his party. The intrigues of Borodin and the widespread civil disturbances of 1927 were the immediate results of this misalliance. Its latest consequences are seen in the turmoil in Central China. When Sun died and the leadership of the party fell to the moderates, the tacit alliance with Russia was severed. But China's Communists were only driven underground. They established themselves in the poorly garrisoned central provinces, biding their time to strike. When Chiang was recently compelled to withdraw his forces for an attack on the Northern invaders, the Communists at once set out to ravage Hunan and the surrounding provinces.

Proclaiming that "China is afire," the LOS ANGELES EXPRESS holds that "nobody knows how far the blaze may spread," and offers the general survey of the situation: "The world knows that the fire was started by Russian Communists, and they keep it alive, and it is their ambition to keep it burning until all the civilized world is ablaze the same way. China in the hands of the Reds would be a menace to civilization. With the hundreds of millions of China under domination of the Communist International of which Joe Stalin, dictator of Russia, is head, it will not be long before India is actually threatened, and soon the East will be arrayed against the West. It is the boast of the Communists that they now control the south of China. Their terror spreads. The murderous reign in Russia appears mild in comparison with the slaughter they conduct and threaten in China. They call it a revolution, but in fact Russia is at war with China as much as if the formal declaration of war had been made to the Nanking Nationalist government. And the civilized world stands back and looks on.

"If the other nations are going to continue the pretense of protecting their interests," advises the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, "they must use more stringent measures. Such a procedure, of course, might aggravate the situation, inasmuch as the rebels draw their strength from the bitter feeling throughout the country against foreigners in China. The foreigner may decide that the best thing to do is to remove their nationals, trust their property to the government and stay out of China until the present ferment settles."

Late reports of more effective fighting by the Nationalists give hope for a weathering of the storm, as pointed out by some American editors. The CHARLESTON EVENING POST holds that "it is difficult to get the truth in reports from China or to understand what is signified by the ascertained facts as they are learned from time to time, so swift are the changes that occur in that chaotic land. But the claims of the Nationalists to recent gains are encouraging and it is to be hoped they are real and that they will be extended," adds that paper, as it gives credit to the Nationalists for having "done a good deal toward developing a national political system and building up a national spirit among the Chinese, objectives which will require years to achieve."

The WASHINGTON EVENING STAR finds satisfaction in reported Nationalist gains, but adds that "the communist menace in the South has not been lessened," that "the Nationalist forces have mainly concentrated in the North and apparently little attempt is made to check the movements of the Red armies that are ranging the country in Hunan, Kiangsi and Hupeh." The Star comments on "evidence that Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang of Manchuria has established relations definitely with the Northern coalition," but quotes a Mukden report that "as a matter of fact the Manchurian alignment with the North is only sentimental at present, and will remain so until the Northerners show a decisive military advantage over the Nationalists."

"Civil war conditions appear to be going from bad to worse," says the HARTFORD TIMES, explaining that "there is little of patriotism in China as regards any central government. The tendency of the populace is to fall in with the most powerful faction in the respective provinces. The Communists have made full use of the weapon of propaganda and have applied some of the loot which they have taken from pillaged buildings to this end."

"No sooner does one war lord gain the ascendancy," according to the CHARLESTON, W. VA. DAILY MAIL, "than others combine to crush him. The present Nationalist regime appears to be entering upon its final stage. What would follow its overthrow invites speculation tinged with uneasiness, in view of the growing power of the Communist army. But the powers can afford to wait until the conditions themselves dictate the action to be taken."

"When they cultivated the Soviet government," recalls the SPRINGFIELD, MASS. REPUBLICAN, "the Nationalists rejected communism, borrowing the technique of organization and propaganda. It is a pity that they did not also borrow the Spartan code of the Bolsheviks, who have waged relentless war on graft, which used to be almost as prevalent in Russia as in China. It may be that in the struggle for power between Chinese groups which stand for much the same thing, victory will rest with whichever side shows itself most competent in public finance."

"Do come and see us; you know you are welcome at any time."
 You have received such invitations many times.

Usually it is a figure of speech and little more than that.
 Commonly few are anxious to have you visit them.

In an effort to entertain guests home routine is disturbed and family desires are thwarted.
 Of course, if you are a person of prominence or one who has accomplished out of the ordinary things invitations may be made with the hope that you will accept them.

Then they become a personal matter with the one who invites you.
 It is hoped, perhaps that you may strengthen his or her social position or add to prestige.

There is not much for you in being entertained in a home that asks you as a guest for purely selfish reasons.
 If you would be popular with many people don't make extensive demands on them, using them and their resources for your convenience.

To be sure, you have some good friends who are sincere in wishing to see you at any time, but you must have sense enough to discriminate between whether it is kind for you to accept hospitality or not, even when invited.

ASK IMMEDIATE AID FOR RESCUE MISSION; CAN CAMPAIGN STARTS

Efforts to relieve the financial distress of the City Rescue Mission are receiving much encouragement. Last night the special executive committee, recently created by a group of interested friends called together by the board of directors, held a joint meeting with the directors. Chairman of the Executive Committee Ira D. Ramsey presided. Reports of the work accomplished were given by William H. Butler and George M. Landis and plans for the future were outlined. An appeal for immediate relief is being mailed to all present and past donors of the mission, which will be followed by a city-wide campaign, when 5,000 can banks will be placed in the homes of the city.

Heartening reports are being received, some contributions have already come in, and the feeling of the city seems to be most friendly toward the mission.

Following is a copy of the letter being mailed this week to all friends of the mission:

Dear Friend:

Knowing that you are a loyal friend and supporter of our City Rescue Mission, we send this letter to inform you of the critical situation which now threatens the continued existence of that worthy institution. A financial crisis demanding immediate relief faces the mission, if its present great work of ministering relief to the souls and bodies of literally thousands of needy people is to continue.

Briefly, the situation is this: In addition to a mortgage of over $14,000 on the mission property, held by a local building and loan association, there is immediate need for about $4,000 to liquidate current obligations which must be met within 30 days. This $4,000 includes a note due in a few days at a local bank, about $500 for insurance now due, back payments to the building and loan association, which state law requires to be paid, and several hundred dollars past due on current running expenses.

For some reason the contributions received for the mission have been much smaller than in previous years. On the other hand the mission is doing an amount of work unparalleled in its recent history. Please study carefully the enclosed report for the nine months ending July 1, 1930. When you consider that there is but one paid worker in the mission, where there was formerly from three to five you can realize the immensity of the work which the staff is doing.

Dare the Christian citizens of New Castle allow this work to stop? During the past year over 6,000 meals were given to hungry men, and over 4,000 warm beds were furnished to cold and weary men, over 2,000 garments were given to shivering men, women and children. But even more important than all of this, thousands had presented to them "The Bread of Life," "The Rest of Faith in His Finished Work," and "The Garments of Salvation."—The Robe of Righteousness. Think what it means to have 127 of these men, whom the report mentions as having been prayed with all professed saving faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, which through an oversight was not mentioned in the report. From a selfish standpoint, consider the menace to our homes and property if 6,000 cold and hungry men were left to roam through our city, made desperate by the pangs of cold and hunger, and not knowing the blessed gospel of salvation from sin.

In an effort to meet this situation a group of interested persons met last Thursday night with the mission board. From that group this executive committee was appointed, for the purpose of trying to secure immediate relief to the extent of $4,000. As an initial step this letter is being mailed to every supporter of the mission, requesting, if possible, a special contribution for the present crisis. We trust that you will be able to help in this trying hour to save the mission. Contributions may be mailed directly to the mission board or a representative from the mission board will be glad to call on you personally within the next few days and explain more fully the pressing needs.

Let us pray that this good work may not cease.

Respectfully yours,
IRA RAMSEY, Chm.
GEO. M. LANDIS, Secy.
W. T. BURNS,
HOWARD KIRK, JR.,
Committee.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock all friends and supporters of the mission are requested to meet at the mission and hear further reports from the executive committee and the board of directors and for the consideration of future plans for support of the mission. No solicitation of funds will be made at this meeting. The ministers of the cities and leaders of adult Bible classes are especially invited to attend.

It is announced by the board of directors that during the course of this campaign at least, regular office hours will be maintained by Superintendent Watkins. He will be in the office from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 2 to 4 in the afternoon. Interested persons are cordially invited to inspect the mission plant and investigate the character of work being carried on.

Traffic Congestion Can Be Solved With City Improvements

Motor Club Head Says Wider
Use Of City Plans To Bring
Traffic Solution

The growing tendency to expend funds for municipal improvements in accord with well laid plans augurs well for ultimate solution of the problem of traffic congestion and, according to R. W. Binsinger, President of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Binsinger bases his statement on a report from the A. A. A. Committee on Highway Widening and Planning, which is now formulating a program to eliminate congestion on the streets and highways.

The A. A. A. Club executive said that during 1929 the legislature of twenty eight states enacted 66 laws relating to the various phases of city and regional plans, according to a survey by the Bureau of Standards.

Included in the 66 laws passed last year, he continues, "were five city planning enabling acts, passed by the legislatures of Arkansas, California, Colorado, Maryland and North Dakota."

"There has been a gradual reduction in the amount of money needlessly spent as each project, whether it be a new street or building, takes its place, under proper planning with relation to all others in a development program covering a period of years."

"As a result of the more general use of adequate plans, a considerable part of $3,500,000,000 annual expenditure for public works construction and maintenance is expended under carefully worked out plans."

Three Day Program Will Be Carried Out With 100
Planes In Contests

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 27.—Clarence M. Knox, commissioner of aeronautics for the state of Connecticut, is to give the principal address at the dedication of the Warren airport at 3:30 o'clock, Saturday, August 30th. Mr. Knox will be but one of a large number of aviation officials of national prominence to be present on that occasion. It is expected that members of the Pennsylvania commission will be among those in attendance. The address of welcome will be delivered by Hon. L. E. Chapman, burgess of Warren.

The dedication program is the most ambitious one ever offered outside the large cities of the country, and is exciting interest and praise on the part of aviation leaders everywhere. It will continue for three days, and from present indications will be featured here by the presence of about one hundred airplanes, including a squadron of naval ships, the Goodyear blimp "Defender," and a Ford tri-motored plane.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The visiting foreign lawyers began their second day at the Capital sight seeing, and faced a full program of formal and informal functions.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson entertained this afternoon at their Woodley home and informal dinners for the various national groups in the party, were to be followed by a reception at the British embassy.

The lawyers are from Great Britain, France, and Canada, and have been in attendance at the American Bar Association's convention at Chicago. They will leave here tomorrow after a visit to Mr. Vernon and to Annapolis where they will be guests of Gov. Ritchie of Maryland.

Alderman Cooper
Divides Costs

The costs were divided equally between the prosecutor and the defendant in a charge of surety of peace which Albert Knight, colored, of South Jefferson street, and John Traylor, also colored of Moravia St., were involved in a case heard at the office of Alderman J. Lee Cooper of East Long avenue this morning. The costs were $13.75.

The case was one in which Knight claimed that Traylor threatened to do him bodily harm if he did not keep away from a lady friend of his. Evidence was not substantial in this case and as a result, Alderman Cooper divided the costs equally among the two men.

Ten Motorists
Pay Towing Charges

Ten motorists, who forgot and left their cars parked on downtown streets last night after midnight, this morning found their machines through the medium of the police department. They were checked in for the night at various garages of the city, when they were found by Officer George Kennedy to be interfering with the operation of the street sweeping machine. It cost each $2.75 for interfering with the street department's desire to clean the street. Friday night will be the next occasion on which a similar performance is likely to occur.

Y CHEST BUDGET CHOSEN BY BOARD

Amount Set Is Not Announced;
Regular Directors' Session
Tuesday

The allotment the New Castle Y. M. C. A. will ask for this year's Community Chest was definitely agreed upon when members of the association's board of directors met for their regular August meeting, Tuesday.

Vice President George Lyon presided over the session in the absence of R. J. Tully, board president. The meeting occurred at the Y. M. C. A.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans when asked what figure the board decided upon, replied that it was not the wish of the board to make the figure public at this time. However, a statement will probably be forthcoming later.

"Directors who attended besides Mr. Lyon were W. F. Moody, Thomas H. Hartman, B. H. Kannenberg, Jack Preston, Carl E. Paisley, Paul Butz, W. J. Offutt, and Herbert S. Christman.

New officers of the board will be chosen at the next meeting in September. A committee composed of Vice President Lyon, R. J. Tully and the general secretary will also report candidates for the two director posts now vacant.

May Ask White To Rule On Certificates

Paving Of Euclid Avenue Has Been Discussed But No Action Taken

It is probable that Councilman Burns will request Solicitor Robert White, Friday, to present to council an opinion covering the cost of improvements by the certificate system, which some months ago was ruled legal by the Doughton county court.

Some months ago Third Class cities asked the court to rule on the question in view of the order by the state that the certificate plan could not be used unless the state approved them first.

One of the improvements which is desired, it is said, is the paving of Euclid avenue owing to the fact that much traffic is carried there by the George Washington Junior High school.

The proposed paving of Euclid avenue has been brought before council but no definite action has ever been taken.

Trainer-Long Match Today

Winner Will Meet Sam Perry In
The Finals For Field Club Championship

One of the feature matches of this year's championship tournament at the New Castle Field Club is being played this afternoon, and a considerable gallery of interested fans is watching the event.

It is the semi-final match between George Trainor, defending champion, and Bill Long, one of the outstanding golfers of the club, who has been making a fine showing for some time.

George Trainor, the defending champion, is probably the youngest man to have ever attained the championship of the New Castle Field Club and had long been recognized as one of the premier golfers of the club and district.

The result is that these young men in their match today are expected to show rare golf and make the contest one that will be outstanding in golf affairs of the club.

The winner of this match will meet Samuel Perry Jr., another of the younger and better golfers of the club, in the final for the club championship this year.

Get Mother From Home Frequently

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Many conscientious mothers stick too close to home, particularly mothers of young children. So devoted to their children and their family they pass day upon day without seeing anybody but the members of the family and occasional friends who drop in. They feel it is their duty to be always home and what is more, their husbands have a similar feeling.

But the father gets out, meets other people, hears about many other things, and has a wide variety of experiences, perhaps. The narrowed duties of the faithful mother he may never think about. He even may go out several nights a week to his clubs, leaving her at home alone.

In a few instances it is almost impossible for the mother to get out away from the home often or for long periods of time. A few fathers have such long hours of work that they are all worn out when they come home. But even they should know that any mother all day with one or several little children, and still responsible for their care at night, gets very weary, too.

Almost every father easily could spend an hour or two, before or after supper, or for one or two evenings a week, with the children while the mother goes out shopping, to some party or club, or to the theater.

Nearly every father has some time available on Saturday or Sunday. If some friend or neighbor is available to keep the children, or if the family is able to hire a responsible caretaker for an evening or two each week, how wonderful for dad and mother to go out together. Unfortunately for the child who is taken along. Parents who can provide for the home care of the children often drag them along, exposing them to diseases, keeping them from proper sleep and upsetting their general health habits. Not much recreation for a mother, anyway, when the young children are with her.

The trouble has been that nobody has thought the mother needs to get away from home, and away from the children; and her conscience often has kept her from going when she could go. For her children's good, as well as for her own, she should get away from them for a few hours every day or so. When she is forever with them they are more likely to "get on her nerves" and she on theirs. The mother who enjoys proper diversion will have fewer worries, will think less about herself, have fewer aches and pains, will have better mental and physical health. If she has worries about the family costs in relation to the income, she all the more needs to get out often, so there will be fewer doctor bills. She also will be better able to keep her husband in good cheer.

BUSY PASSES JUDGMENT
Busy was amused, there wasn't a doubt of it. And if she had been dressed by one of her own humble kind she would have laughed out loud. However, it was a queen who commanded her answer. So Worker Ant was very respectful.

"Pardon my smiling, your majesty," said she. "But really, if you knew as much as I do, you would find all this fright on my relatives' part very funny. That is, I mean if you knew as much about the young two-legs here as I do. Of course, on all other subjects you are far wiser than I am or can ever hope to be." Pleased at such flattery, the fat queen bowed.

"Our guest is as honest as the day is long, and has offered to help us because he wishes to be of use and not just an idler. Let him carry our burdens. If you ask me, I believe our guest is strong enough to manage two or three eggs at a time. Think what this would mean! If he carried two eggs this would relieve two ants to go to work in the new home, setting it to rights. Your majesty, an ant can carry but one egg at a time in her jaws. But a two-legs walks upright on his feet and has two arms that swing and do nothing at all unless he gives them something to carry. If young two-legs wishes to burden himself with our treasures, let him! It will please him and be so much the better for us."

"Trust me, and you'll never be sorry!" cried Peter, anxious to prove his worth.

"All right, we will!" The fat queen nodded. "Now that everything's settled, let everybody be up and at their work. It's up to you, Busy, to tell your friend what he's to do!"

Off the fat queen waddled.

Next: "Movers on the March."

It had rained for nearly 40 days and 40 nights and the Ark's ladder was running low. Hungry Father Noah looked at Ham, and his mouth watered. "Gee! If I only had some eggs," he sighed.

loose Dandruff

If your scalp itches or burns, if your hair is thinning or you are troubled with loose dandruff, begin using full strength Listerine, systematically, as an antiseptic shampoo. Simply douse it on and massage the scalp as vigorously as you can.

Literally tens of thousands who have rid themselves of a dandruff condition with Listerine, are simply amazed by the speed with which it gets results.

Yet when the facts are known there is no mystery about its success.

Many dermatologists claim dandruff is caused by germs. They successfully combat it with a combination of frequent massage and the application of healing antiseptics.

Full strength Listerine, as you know, is so safe and soothing it may be used in any body cavity. And at the same time is so powerful it kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) and M. Aureus (pus) germs in 15 seconds.

At the first sign of dandruff, begin using Listerine. Simply douse it on the scalp full strength. Massage vigorously—moving the scalp itself—not the fingers. Results will delight you. But don't expect a miracle over night. It is important that you keep the treatment up, systematically, for several days, using a little olive oil if the scalp is excessively dry. Adjust Robbery Loss At Volant

Amount Taken Is Found To Be Slightly Over
$1,000

BANDITS ELUDE CAPTURE AS YET

Excitement following the bold daylight holdup of the First National Bank in Volant early Monday afternoon having subsided, officials of the bank have made a thorough investigation into the amount stolen by the two robbers when they locked Philip Cox, cashier into the vault door and escaped.

A survey Tuesday fixed the amount taken at slightly over $1,000. The robbers' loot consisted of about $75 in silver and the rest in bills.

Officials of the bank announce that the entire amount missed following the holdup was covered by insurance, and the loss has been adjusted.

A dragnet, extending from one end of the county to the other, and including other sections of the state reached by the state police teletype has been formed for the two daring robbers who escaped in a sedan bearing either West Virginia or Ohio license.

Throughout the day Tuesday state police and county officers continued their manhunt.

50 Different Artists Paint Same Woman

LONDON, Aug. 27.—An entire exhibition at the Leicester galleries, London, is being given to portraits of one woman, Madame Maria Lani, by fifty different artists.

This strange art show points out how the mysterious beauty of this woman has baffled half of the best known artists of Europe.

Such international celebrities as the painters Derrain, Van Dongen, Chirico and Mme. Marval; sculptors such as Desplau, Zadkine and Mme. Orloff; and even dressmakers such as M. Paul Poiret and the extremes of the "abstract" school such as Picabia and Lurcat have each and all painted this woman and not two have anything like the same result. Not only having these artists, in painting Mme. Lani from every facet, painted fifty different women, but they have portrayed fifty different personalities.

Now critics say that this Mona Lisa of the modern world could only be painted by a modern Leonardo de Vinci, whose entire powers would be needed to record the sum total of this woman's head, in which, it would seem, Nature has issued her challenge to Art.

British critics are demanding that Augustus John and Walter Sickert should paint her and that Epstein should make a bronze.

Plan Pageant And Coronation Ball At Cathedral

Announcement Is Made Of Spectacle Being Planned For November 20-21

During the fall and winter a great many events are being planned to take place at the Cathedral but one of the outstanding events now under way is a big oriental pageant and coronation ball which is scheduled for Nov. 20 and 21. It will be under the management of the Entertainment Committee composed of Dr. A. W. Urmon, John J. Jones and Stanley Tresser.

The event will be staged by H. J. Raymond, representing the Interstate Producing Company. Mr. Raymond is in the city.

The affair promises to be one of the finest events held in this city in a long time and will attract much attention. The entire building will be decorated and will present a very pretty appearance and with the many colored lighting effects and scenery to be used will eclipse anything that has ever been attempted in New Castle.

In order to stage this affair both the large auditorium and the ball and dining rooms will be used. The program of events is now being arranged and will carry many novel and interesting features never before seen in New Castle.

While it is a little early to give a vivid description of the affair at this time this will be done later. However the Committee in charge is most enthusiastic over securing the Pageant for New Castle and it is believed it will be one of the crowning events of the fall season.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—Budget blanks calling for budget estimates for the biennium 1931-1933 have been sent to all State institutions under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Welfare.

Under the provisions of the Administrative Code, budget estimates are called for by August 15 just preceding the next session of the Legislature. The estimates this year of course, come under the jurisdiction of the incoming governor who takes office in January, thus placing the duty of gathering the estimates upon the outgoing governor.

ABE MARTIN On Mixing Business With Pleasure

A BUSINESS MAN OF THE EARLY EIGHTIES

Who can remember when mixing pleasure with business was regarded as one of the shortest cuts to bankruptcy? To devote any time or attention to anything apart or remote from one's particular calling or business was to shake the public's confidence in one's stability or solvency. Even if a fellow liked to fish or took his family to Niagara Falls it caused tongues to wag. Even a couple of seats in the parquet to see "The Black Crook" shook the public's confidence in a business man. Diversion is prescribed in this day and age. Get away from your business the doctor tells us. No less an authority than Dr. Mopps prescribes golf in preference to whole wheat bread or spinach. "Neglect your business if you want to be well and happy," he told Tell Binkley. The man who sticks to business today is regarded as a slave driver and a grouch. "Why don't he spend his money?" is a common remark. Even Farmer Jake Bentley took up golf in self defense. People said he was wrapped up on agriculture and lacked civic pride. Of course there's an endless variety of diversions. Gittin' away from the constant grind if only to be a pall bearer is a diversion, a change, somethin' different. Some business men with pay roll troubles an' a multiplicity o' worries 'll play poker all night an' eat a lot o' scrambled eggs. It's their way o' fergettin' the slump an' addin' years to their lives. While poker don't compare with whole wheat bread as a body builder, it often gives a tired, warped business man a new slant on life. Enterprisin' theatrical managers used to organize light bare legged, vulgar shows for tired business men when spinach or any vegetable diet would have been far better an' cheaper. But ruts are deadly. Business men, professional men and even loafers, should stir about an' do new an' unusual things. There's nothin' to stickin' tight to business an' laborin' under the illusion that we're indispensable an' dyin' at fifty-one. It's a mighty 000 not which is payable to her daughter.

I understand that the Echo Park Evangelistic Association deeded Angelus Temple to the Church of the Four Square Gospel, and that part of the payment was a note for $250,000," said Mrs. Kennedy.

"I want to know if that deed has been recorded and if my daughter's interests are being guarded."

British Amateurs Are Best Boxers

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—One victory was already in possession of the British athletes gathered here for the international track meet today after the foreign boxers won four out of five amateur bouts last night.

The bouts were made up of British empire champions in the Hamilton, Ont., contests, who were paired with mid-western A. A. U. titleholders. The results were:

J. M. Smith, South Africa, defeated Johnny Lunetto, 3 rounds, 120 pounds. Lawrence Stevens, South Africa, outpointed Tony Muscarelli, 3 rounds, 126 pounds. J. Rolland, Scotland, defeated Peter Veri, 3 rounds, 146 pounds. Karl Ogran, Chicago, defeated Ernie Pierce, South Africa Olympic champion, 3 rounds, 160 pounds. Joe Basson, South Africa, knocked out Al Stinke, 2 rounds, 170 pounds.

"Procrastination is the thief of time," quoted the Wise Guy. "Nevertheless the average man would prefer to be late at his own funeral," suggested the Simple Mug.

THE BEST FISHERMAN

God bless the fisherman who brings Us bass and perch and finny things. And shares his catch with men like me Who never cast in lake or sea. When evening sends him back to shore With twenty-seven fish or more And that day's high adventure ends, 'Tis then he thinks about his friends.

Yet many a time I've made the wish That I could dodge all gifts of fish. Rather my time in peace I'd pass Than be compelled to scale a bass; Rather I'd unremembered be When fishermen come home from sea Then take their gifts which can but mean That I've a dozen perch to clean.

Paul Strasburg is a fisherman Whose gifts come ready for the pan. His friendliness is double proved— Scales gone, fins off and heads removed. All gleaming white upon a dish He comes at evening with his fish. God's blessing on that friend I pray Who cleans the perch he gives away! (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest.)

Immunize Child From Diphtheria

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Smallpox was the first great pestilence which men learned to control. The knowledge came late in the world's history. Not until the last few years of the 18th century—130 years ago.

Until then, for thousands of years men had gone along, taking the plagues and pestilences, which visited them as fate, as part of the inevitable order of nature; as something that must be endured. They were accepted as evidence of the wrath of an angry God. Hopelessly, patiently, pathetically, men shrunk under the shadow of their threatening presence.

Then suddenly they were told that the worst of them—smallpox—the most contagious, the most dangerous, which killed thousands of people a year in every large city all over the world—could be prevented. It is impossible for us in this age, when we never see smallpox, to realize what this meant to people of the 18th century.

"It was as if someone said today, 'Infantile paralysis can be prevented.' 'Influenza can be prevented.'"

No wonder people were skeptical of such announcements. No wonder they had a fear of any magic so potent as to be able to accomplish this miracle. Yet, as we said yesterday, vaccination against smallpox is safe, and effective. It is the one thing you owe to your child to do for it before sending it to school.

Not the only one! There are a few others. There are only a few infections we can say certainly we can prevent. Would there were more. Perhaps the time will come when we can take a child for six months, and at the end of that time return it to the world and be able to say: "This human being will never have an infection."

It will be a great day in man's history. A great step in harnessing his power over the forces of nature. As great as if the weather man should say: "I can prevent earthquakes and cyclones and typhoons. I can prevent them from happenings."

As yet, as I said, we have only a few infections we can prevent. But let us give the child the benefit of all this power at any rate. It may be easier for some of the older of my readers to remember the ravages of diphtheria than the ravages of smallpox. Twenty-five years ago it was among the most dreaded and dangerous of all diseases. Its fatalities were especially among children and babies.

In 1890 there were 112½ deaths per 100,000 population from diphtheria all over the world. That would mean today, in a city the size of New York, that this year nearly 7,000 persons, most of them children, would die of the disease. In 1927 there were actually about 500 deaths.

How was this magnificent triumph accomplished? Almost entirely by the use of antitoxin. Antitoxin was perfected in 1893. So you see the death figures for diphtheria for 1890 represent the time where we had no control over the disease. With the introduction of antitoxin the poison of the disease can be neutralized. But this means—after the disease has been acquired.

Since then we have gone further. Not only can we control the disease after it has started, but we can keep a person from even getting it at all. It is accomplished by diphtheria toxin-antitoxin inoculation. The exact mechanism of this I will describe tomorrow. But in case you miss tomorrow's paper, let's make three points here.

1. Diphtheria is especially dangerous to the child going to school. Contact in the crowded schoolroom starts it.

2. It can be determined scientifically whether your child is susceptible to diphtheria.

3. If it is susceptible, the child can be rendered immune to it safely and almost certainly.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenening cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions are of general interest, however, they will be taken up in order in the daily column. Address your queries to Dr. Logan Clendenening, care of this paper. Write legibly and not over 200 words.)

GOTHAM DEB WEDS DANCE PARTNER

New York society circles have been buzzing audibly with news of the marriage of Helen Finch, young debutante daughter of Mrs. Alice M. Finch, to her former professional dancing partner, Constantin Maniatis. The couple is shown here when they danced together in the night clubs earlier in the season.

By Central Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The young men in the cigarette ads had better take a little time off and devote it to a study of Emily Post. I encountered one of them on the rear piazza of a recent magazine—nice chap, who smokes the same brand as I do; but very ill bred. His hostess extends a cigarette case. "Have a 'Smellycremo,'" she says. "Thank you, no," the young man replies. "I smoke 'Unfortunates'."

MOVIE MANNERS
Speaking of breeding, there's a dinner scene in the film, "Raffles." The women retire to the drawing room leaving the men with their cigars. Ronald Colman, playing the role of the Gentleman Crackman, arises with the others, bows to his hostess and the instant she passes, cut across the bow of the next woman in line without even a hint of an apology. I saw the picture with Longacre Lil. She turned to me:

"Isn't that bad taste?" she inquired. "It may be 'bad taste,' Lil," I replied, "but after all, who is there out in Hollywood to wise them up, except Elmer Glyn?"

VANISHED LADY
"Whatever become of Lady Bluff Gordon, Elmer Glyn's sister?" said Longacre Lil. "Her name," said I, "is 'Duff,' not 'Bluff.'"

"Well, what become of her?" I told her she could search me. "You know," she whispered, "I can remember when no lady on Broadway was really a lady, unless she was wearing one of Lady Bluff Gordon's latests."

And when I made no answer she sighed deeply. "I tell you what," she said finally. "I think I'm going to stop remembering. It's a sign you're gettin' old."

OLD FASHIONED HAVEN
There's a restaurant on West 23rd street—Caranagh's—that's a veritable storehouse of memories. Sooner or later during the course of a meal there, one of the old waiters wanders over and begins by saying: "Do you ever run across Eddie, or Tommy, or Bobby any more?"

It isn't at all unpleasant. Nothing could ever be unpleasant in Caranagh's. A cozy, comfortable air pervades the place—a mellow atmosphere of well-being—the accumulation of decades. The old timers who dine there, and the proprietors seem to have entered into a jovial conspiracy to frustrate the Thieving Years.

Old Father Time has taken to cutting across the street when he comes to Caranagh's, and passing on the other side.

Gypsy Women Get $2,300 From Victim

Evans City Man Is Fleeced By Workers At Butler Fair

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 27.—O. I. Sale-mage, Evans City, was fleeced of $2300 when, state police said, he engaged two gypsy women at the Butler Fair to charm away the curse from his life savings. Now the gypsies are gone, Salemage's money gone, and police, handicapped by a late start, fear search for the fortune tellers is futile.

Salemage visited the women, described as slim and attractive, at their booth on the midway at the fair. He told them of his little fortune, and when they advised him the money would not increase until incantations had been chanted, he asked the gypsies to perform the ritual at his home, according to police.

The Evans City man is vague about what happened in the house, but when the gypsies had departed, he discovered emptiness in place of more money, he told police.

Teletype descriptions flashed to other points indicate the fortune tellers are traveling with a man, believed to be a brother of one, in either a truck or a high-powered touring car.

Chaney is survived by his wife, the former Hazel Hastings, and a son, Creighton, who is a Hollywood lawyer.

LOWELLVILLE, Aug. 27.—A stolen car was recovered after three shots had been fired at the auto thief as he fled through a corn field here Monday night. Later the same thief is believed to have stolen another car.

Officer Vai and Motor Officer E. H. Miller followed the car and found the man changing a wheel on the car on the Stacy Farm south of Lowellville.

The man fled through a corn field on the approach of officers. Officer Vai fired three shots at him, but he escaped.

Market Active Stocks Go Up

Favorites In Steel, Utility
And Amusement Stocks
Reach Higher Levels

BIGGEST UPTURN IN PAST MONTH

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial
Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The favorites in the steel, amusement, utility and specialty stocks pushed ahead confidently to higher price levels today in one of the most active markets of the month. Close to 1,200,000 shares changed hands up to the noon period, or at the rate of 3,000,000 shares for the full session.

Considerable satisfaction was derived from the Iron Age's confirmation of the expansion in steel production, the industry having speeded up to 54 per cent of mill capacity, against 52 per cent two weeks ago, according to this authority. United States Steel forged ahead to 172 1/4, the highest price since the June break but selling orders in abundance crowded in at that price and the spectacular advance was halted.

Radio Keith, General Theatres equipment, Loews, Fox and Paramount were the leaders today in a confident upward movement of the amusement stocks, which today reached a new high level on the move. Radio Keith topped 36 for a new gain of 2 points; General Theatres Equipment sold above 35 and Loews at 76. Better reports from the mercantile and chain-store industry stimulated active buying of Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Kroger, Woolworth and the well-known tobacco shares. Katy led a spirited advance in the low-priced rails and sold up 3 3/4 at 43 7/8. Fractional advances were recorded by the better grade of rail dividend-payers, as well as in the railroad equipment stocks, of which Baldwin was the leader.

Sheriff Postpones Stone Quarry Sale

Said To Be Forty Wage Claims
Aggregating About $8,000
Against Plant

Sale of the stone quarry outfit of Charles T. Eastburn near Wurttemberg was postponed by Sheriff Frank N. Johnston yesterday until September 2. The execution on which the sale is to be made was issued by the company furnishing electricity, the bill being about $450.

In addition to this claim there are others, among them being wage claims amounting to around $8,000. Sheriff Johnston has on file 40 of these claims. The amounts range from $1-200, the highest, down to less than $100.

The property which has been seized consists of boiler, engine and mining tools of various kinds. The quarry is located near the bridge west of Wurttemberg and has been operated for a number of years.

Crash Of Auto Proves Fatal To Ridgway Driver

(International News Service)
RIDGWAY, Pa., Aug. 27.—Howard Steiss, 24, unconscious in the Ridgway hospital since early Monday morning as the result of an automobile accident on the Buffalo to Pittsburgh Highway died at 5:20 this morning.

Traveling through a heavy fog with Jerome Wollason, 20, Steiss was fatally injured when the automobile crashed over a fifteen foot embankment about seven miles from Ridgway after the men had become lost in the fog.

Wollason, suffering a broken neck and severe concussions, made his way to a farmhouse and summoned aid after which he collapsed.

CLARION, Pa., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Mary Slick, widow of Thomas B. Slick, multi-millionaire independent oil operator, her three children and Slick's mother were named in bequests in the oil operator's will filed for probate here today.

The estate was estimated between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000. Slick's widow is to receive one third of the estate; his mother is to receive $5,000 a year as long as she lives; and the remainder is to be left in trust for the three children, the will states.

FAIL TO LOCATE MORE BEETLES

Department Of Agriculture Man
Here For Two Weeks
Says None Found

No more Japanese beetles were found locally by Department of Agriculture experts who hurried here two weeks ago when six such insects were found at a North street home, those who supervised the search announced today.

E. B. Orem, who came here from the district office at Camden, N. J., with 88 special beetle traps designed to catch the destructive insects, began storing the traps in the basement of the local post office today.

The traps, peculiarly designed into funnel-like devices, are green in color to match the grass, and the devastating beetle slips into the trap most easily. According to Mr. Orem they have stopped the beetle-tide in different sections where damage was expected.

Mr. Orem plans to return to the Camden office to make his report after the storing is completed today.

Says Weather Hasn't Changed In Two Centuries

No Permanent Change In Weather Conditions Says
Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Inhabitants of sections in which Old Sol has made 100 degree temperatures commonplace in recent weeks and others which J. Pluvius has forgotten to rain upon for longer than that, might like to know that the weather hasn't changed permanently for more than 200 years.

In fact, C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, believes there has been no permanent change in climate for whole centuries on end. There may be trends, he concedes, of hotter, or colder, or drier or wetter weather for a number of years. But on the whole, weather balances to about a constant factor.

Conceding that almost every day brings a new weather record some place and that lots of new high temperature records have been added recently, Marvin contends localities and peak records might prove anything. Low rainfall records likewise have been added for periods extending in some parts of the country from two to seven months.

As an example, Washington had 25 inches of snow in 24 hours in January in 1922. That was more snow by several inches than has fallen in a day at St. Paul, Boston, Chicago or New York since the weather bureau began keeping records in 1870. But that did not prove, it was held, that Washington gets more snow than the other cities or that its winters were becoming more severe.

Although the thermometer is only 200 years old, the oldest National Meteorological service in Europe, that of France, Marvin said, antedates the American service by only 15 years.

Removes Barricade On New Paved Street

Finally Walks Into Hands Of City Police And Pays
A Fine

Central police station was advised about eleven o'clock last night that a man driving over the new paving on Grant street, which is closed to traffic, had on coming to North Jefferson street, removed the barricade and driven on Jefferson street without putting the barricade back in place.

Officers searched diligently for the car and its driver but without success.

The solution came in rather an odd manner. Shortly before one o'clock this morning, a man came into the police station, announcing himself as Leo Hoffman of Pine Bank, Green County, Pa., and objecting to officers interfering with his leaving town.

When he had given his license number, he was found to be the man, who had removed the barricade and driven over the new Grant Street paving. He was given a private apartment in the city jail until this morning, when he appeared before Acting Mayor W. T. Burns and was assessed a fine of $10, which he paid.

His car was found parked on South Jefferson street and put in storage until this morning.

Museum To Exhibit Eel With "Trunk"

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 27.—A spiny-backed eel with a "trunk" like an elephant is being prepared for exhibition at the Field Museum of Natural History.

The specimen, commonly known as "mud eel," was acquired in the Ogan river in Sumatra by the museum's expedition into the south Pacific.

The fish is used as food in China, according to Alfred C. Wood, assistant curator. There, in the growing of rice, it is necessary to keep the land flooded most of the season. When the water is drained off the Chinese farmers harvest a crop of fish. Among other kinds, they catch large numbers of mud eels, which are different from ordinary eels in that they are flattened from side to side instead of being round.

"These mud eels are interesting to scientists because they possess characteristics that are generally supposed to belong to very different groups of fishes," Wood stated.

"Down the back they are armed with a row of strong, sharp spines. At the front of the head they bear the 'trunk.' Like the elephant, this fish has its nostrils in its trunk. The trunk is used as a feeler and is waved around in the same manner that an elephant waves its appendage.

Iron And Steel Output Shows Slight Change

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Business in iron and steel has shown only a slight change for the better, but sentiment in the trade is more hopeful, Iron Age will say tomorrow in its weekly review of the iron and steel industry.

In the present conservative mood, the industry can look little chance for a marked recovery in business this year, but there is a growing adherence to the belief that the autumn months will bring some measure of seasonal improvement.

Prices of finished steel have undergone further declines during the last week, Iron Age will say, although both buyers and sellers are beginning to think in terms of longer commitments.

Bars, except in small lot, have receded $1 a ton to 1.60c a pound. Pittsburgh. Black sheets also are off $1 a ton to 2.40c. Pittsburgh and 2.50c. Chicago district mill. Galvanized sheets are commonly available at 3. Pittsburgh. Long terms are down $2 a ton to 3.45c. Pittsburgh and common wire nails have declined to $2 a keg, a recession of $1 a ton.

Tin plate specifications, following more definite information on the drought damage, have shown a spurt and shipments during the week were of record proportions.

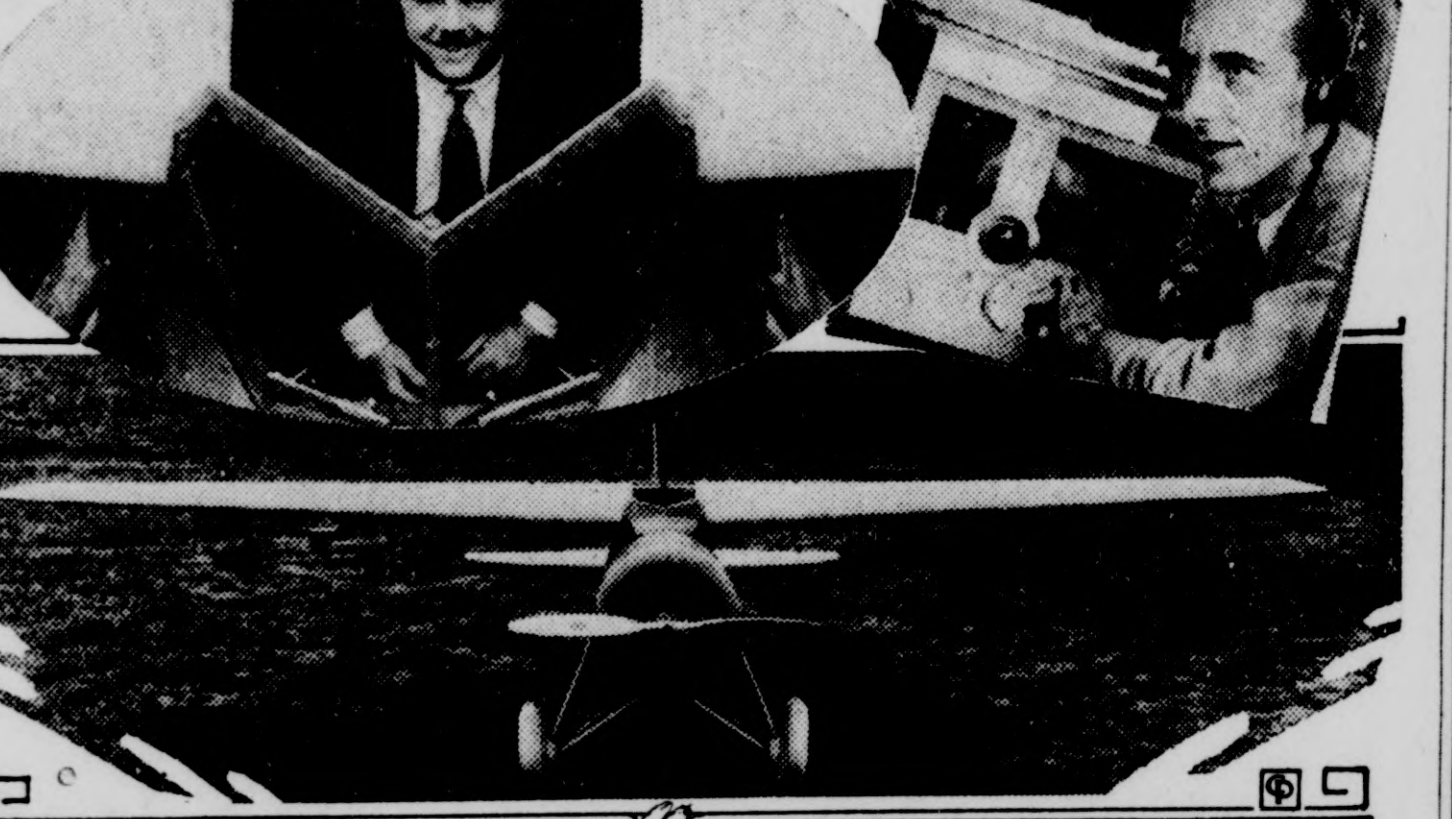

NEW FIRE TRUCK OUT OF COMMISSION

After being in continuous service for more than a year, during which time it has answered a majority of all fire alarms turned in, the Pirsch truck at Central station is out of commission for a short period of time.

While answering an alarm to Florence avenue last evening where a small grass blaze was in progress, a key was sheared off in the clutch. Repairs are expected to be completed this afternoon.

NEWTON D. BAKER DOES QUESTIONING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 27.—Once again the oft-repeated story of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company merger with Bethlehem Steel Corporation was told under cross-examination in Common Pleas Court here today—this time from the viewpoint of Cyrus S. Eaton, so-called "champion of Mid-West industries" who bitterly opposes the consolidation.

For three successive court days, Eaton has withstood the piercing cross-examination of Newton D. Baker, counsel for sponsors of the merger, regarding the intimate details of his financial activities, which Baker claimed was necessary information to "test the good faith" of the witness in opposing the Steel Union.

The testimony has revealed in minute detail Eaton's methods in the formation of the Republic Steel Corporation. It has disclosed the activities of each and every one of Eaton's financial ventures and the parts they have played in the furtherance of mergers. It has all been brought forth in an attempt to impeach the financier's sincerity in attacking the Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem merger.

So, with this testimony as the groundwork, Baker today centered his attack against Eaton's direct connection with the Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem merger. He began by questioning Eaton regarding his first knowledge of the deal between the Youngstown concern and Bethlehem.

Eaton claims that he was first notified of the negotiations at a meeting of financiers on March 7 in the office of W. G. Mather in Cleveland. Among those present at the meeting were Henry G. Dalton, one of the leaders in the merger negotiations; W. G. Mather, Samuel Mather and Livingston Mather.

Failure of four motorists to give the right of way to pedestrians was noted in the latest report of members of the New Castle Motor Club participating in the A. B. C. (Always Be Careful) safety campaign.

A new record of traffic violations was reached Tuesday evening when members reported 28 more violations which they observed on New Castle streets during the day.

The total now stands at 282.

Driving through red lights appears to be one of the principal violations observed in the 24 hours which ending Tuesday evening. Motorists who are taking part in the safety campaign reported five violations in which cars continued to run after the red light flashed at an intersection. The other high mark was scored against motorists who continually encroached upon cross walks, six such violations being reported.

Other violations reported were:

Parking near a fire hydrant, 1; driving through stop signs, 7; driving without reducing speed at railroad crossings, 2; passing cars, 2.

Letters bearing the signature of Mayor William Gillespie are being received by motorists whose license numbers are being reported to the office of the motor club.

Education In India Subject Of Address Given Tuesday Noon

Prof. Charles Stewart, Visitor
Here, Cites Progress In Lions' Talk

Development of education in India under native direction was ably described in the noon day address which Prof. Charles A. Stewart, superintendent of a leper asylum there, gave before the Lions Club at the city Tuesday. Prof. Stewart with his family is at present visiting his father, Dr. J. S. Stewart of North Mercer street.

Among other things Prof. Stewart pointed out that the director of public education in the country, his assistants and the inspectors of schools are about the only Britishers left in the educational department. It is mainly under native supervision.

Great Britain controlled educational policies for some time, but on the complaint of inhabitants that poor management was making things worse and not better, a change was authorized and the native Indians assumed the majority of control. Mr. Stewart remarked that as far as he can see there has been no change made whatsoever.

The fact that India's population is mostly in the rural districts accounts to a large degree for the slow progress of education so far, the speaker asserted. It is difficult to get the children of these districts to the schools.

A considerable part of the address was devoted to the minor details of school operation, and the differences between theirs and our own.

Bonus Is Planned For Big Families

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Last year's excess of 12,000 deaths over births has impelled a large group in Parliament to seek methods of encouraging births.

A majority of the Deputies have signed a bill offering premiums to large families, appropriating for that purpose $45,000,000.

Parents would receive $20 for the second child, $30 for each additional one and a pension of $20 to $40 when they reached the age of 60.

Parents also would get subsidies already available to poor people with large families.

Farm Suggestions From State College Experts

Grow Winter Barley.—Winter barley is a possible substitute for winter wheat as a grain crop in southern Pennsylvania counties east of the Alleghenies. It yields better and makes a more excellent feed for livestock than does wheat.

Meet Drouth Shortage.—Retail prices of fresh produce in the principal larger city markets have not been seriously affected by the drouth, because the shortage in local produce has been met by shipments from a distance.

Move To Clean Ground.—Pullets on range will be benefited if the brooder house is moved occasionally to a clean area. Placing the hoppers on a clean ground is another small chore which will help to prevent the spread of diseases and parasites.

Water Is Needed.—Cows in milk need plenty of water at all times and especially in hot weather, according to State College dairy specialists.

Find Quality Counts.—Co-operative organizations early found that unless they had a uniformly graded product, their selling plans fell by the wayside.

Highly efficient methods of grading and packing were adopted and these are now integral parts of all successful fruit and vegetable organizations.

Feed Livestock Well.—For best results livestock need feed and attention. They cannot develop properly on empty stomachs any more than an automobile can run without a supply of gas.

Put Corn In Silo.—The most feeding value will be obtained this year by putting the corn crop in the silo.

The fiftieth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor will open at Boston, October 5.

Horse Riding Lures Many New Castle Folks This Season

With re-opening of the horse-riding season by instructors for Troop F, Cavalry, New Castle society is again lured by shady bridge paths and the prancing horses of the guardsmen.

Since the National Guard unit returned from its encampment at Mount Gretna civilian classes in riding are again attracting socially prominent persons in the city. Sergeant William Miller, former troop sergeant and the nationally famous Troop E, Second Cavalry, which won the national cup at Fort Myer last spring for being the best cavalry organization in the United States, is again supervising classes in New Castle.

On Tuesday evening the riding stables were visited by members of the civilian class, including Miss Evelyn Pearson, Brown Zahnizer, Miss Emma Lou Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Clausen, young Robert Aiken, B. J. Cohen, and two beginners, Miss Mills and Miss Jones. Mr. Higgins, who has attended the class in the past, was also present.

Among newcomers were Mrs. Harvey G. Buntin, wife of the commander of Troop F, and Mrs. G. P. Mitchell, wife of Second Lieutenant Mitchell.

For months prior to the departure of Troop F horses for Mount Gretna well known residents have been visitors. The drill field on the W. side has been a mecca for distinguished guests, who have asked Stacie Sergeant P. J. Knight for assistance in locating their favorite mount.

stables and is always in demand by the civilian riders. Another favorite is "Alex", Lieut. Buntin's former rider.

An ambitious program for the near future has been mentioned by Lieut. Miller and Lieut. Buntin. It is announced that the horses-29 in number, will shortly be trained for an exhibition of expert riding. It is planned to make the affair as retentive as possible to have a large crowd. It is known that the troop officers and the instructors in cavalry horsemanship, Lieut. Miller, plan a rough riding class. In addition to these innovations it is believed that other surprises are planned.

With Sergeant Miller again ready to assist new riders, former attendants are expected to attend the drill field during the riding classes, which are held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Sunday morning. Enthusiastic riders who are often seen on the bridge paths about the drill field and stables include Mrs. Lucille Wallace, Mrs. A. Fankhauser, Mr. and Mrs. A. Levine, Dave Bollard, Miss Betty Emery, Thomas Dickey, Jr., Dan Fisher, Louis B. Round and daughter, Lieut. John D. Kennedy, and many others.

Spectators while riders enjoy their mounts include Frank Hoyt and Miss Emma Hoyt, George D. Blair, Jr., and Mrs. Blair, Edwin Arrow, Maj. and Mrs. W. F. Jackson and others.

Nomination Of Rolph Conceded

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Friend W. Richardson, former governor of California and supporter of Byron Fitts, early today conceded victory to Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco. He expressed belief that Rolph had won the republican nomination for governor in a congratulatory message sent to the mayor's headquarters here.

No concession of a Rolph victory was forthcoming from Fitts' managers at Los Angeles, however. They believe Fitts will poll a sufficiently large vote in the southern part of the state to over come Rolph's lead in the north.

"Turnpike Sailors" Will Have To Work

GENEVA, O., Aug. 27.—"Turnpike Sailors" will have to work for their bed and breakfast in Geneva this winter. Mayor G. C. Webster has appointed a committee consisting of Al Morley, G. A. Wellman and D. H. Waite to figure out a method of taking care of the "knights of the road."

Councilman Morley declares that he can handle the situation by housing the visitors for the night and making them work in the morning.

Feeding 3,000 Visitors Coming For Saengerfest Is No Little Contract

What do singers eat at a Saengerfest?

Announcement that the fourth triennial Saengerfest of the Transylvania-Saxon Saengerbund of North America, which will be held in New Castle at the Cathedral on Sunday and Monday will include a huge tent on Taylor street, where delegates and singers will be served meals has provided a topic of interest to many.

According to Martin Leonhardt, the secretary of the general Saengerfest committee of New Castle, sponsor of the Saengerfest here, the purpose of the committee in erecting the tent is to bring the singers together, since their presence in a body is highly desired prior to the singing ensembles.

Mrs. Katherine Lang, secretary of the women's committee, which will serve the meals, expects that about 800 of the 3,000 visitors and delegates, will be served six meals in the two days of the Saengerfest.

Seventy-five waitresses, 30 kitchen helpers and many others will serve 800 pounds of meat in the two days. Ten stoves will be employed to cook the meals. On Sunday 1,000 pounds of meat, which includes 500 pounds of roast beef, 200 pounds of sausage and 300 pounds of baked ham, will be consumed. On the second day only 800 pounds of meat, consisting of 500 pounds of pork and 300 pounds of meat loaf will be consumed during the noon and evening meals.

In addition to the meat it has been figured that the committee will need 30 dozens eggs, 25 pounds coffee, seven bushels cabbage, four bushels of beets, three bushels tomatoes and three bushels of cucumbers.

According to the "alibi" testimony, the late Mr. Zuta of Chicago was just a big-hearted, open-handed fellow toward financially embarrassed officials. —The Louisville Courier-Journal.

Speed Races To Feature Program At Air Carnival

Fastest Planes And Most Daring Of Nation's Pilots To Race In Chicago

PRESIDENT HOOVER TO LIGHT BEACON

Rerby Race From Los Angeles Won By Wiley Post—Mrs. Phoebe Omlie Wins

By ROY E. DUNNE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Five speed races, bringing together a wide array of the fastest airplanes and daring pilots were on today's program of aerial stunts, contests and exhibitions at the 1930 National Air Races at Curtiss-Wright Airport here.

One of the races is limited to women flying cabin planes of a 500 cubic inch piston displacement. Another which has attracted wide interest is the United States navy race which is scheduled to begin at 1:40 p. m.

Will Light Beacon.

President Hoover is to touch an electric button in the White House tonight, turning on the most brilliant aerial beacon in the world. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to whom the beacon is to be dedicated, is expected at the dedication ceremony.

Climaxing a thrilling day's program, four widely known fliers late yesterday roared across the finish line after a nine-hour non-stop dash from Los Angeles, completing the non-stop race from the Pacific Coast.

Wiley Post of Oklahoma City, finishing the flight in 9 hours, 9 minutes and 4 seconds, was declared the tentative winner. Unless Col. Arthur Goebel, who expects to take-off today from Los Angeles in the same event, better Post's elapsed time, the Oklahoma City flier will be awarded the cash prize of $7,500.

Post landed at 5:39:04 p. m. before a cheering throng of 35,000 persons. Thirteen seconds later the fleet plane piloted by Lee Schoenhair screamed over the waiting throng and crossed the finish line at 5:39:17. Schoenhair's elapsed time was 9 hours 39 minutes 17 seconds.

Next to arrive was William S. Brock, round the world flier, bringing a radio operator with him as passenger. Brock landed at 5:48:57 with an elapsed time of 9 hours, 53 minutes and 57 seconds. Col. Roscoe Turner, with his pet No. 1 cub in the plane's cockpit, flashed over the finish line at 5:53:41. All our contestants flew identical planes and all were powered with Wasp motors with the exception of Turner's ship which was driven by a Hornet motor.

Woman Fliers Land.
Arrival of five women pilots in the women's dixie air derby from Washington, D. C., preceded the men's non-stop derby finish. Mrs. Phoebe Omlie of Memphis, Tenn., led the other four "powder puff" fliers in the last lap from Springfield, Ill., and was acclaimed the victor in the 1,575 mile cross-country race. This was the second women's distance derby of the National Air Races.

Mrs. Martie Bowman of Hempstead, L. I., was second honor winner and Miss Laura Ingalls of St. Louis, placed third. Miss Nancy Hopkins of New York City, niece of Charles Dana Gibson, won fourth place and Miss Charity Langdon of Norfolk, Va., landed in fifth place.

Neighbors Harvest Sick Man's Hay

BEDFORD, N. H., Aug. 27.—Harry Gage, bedridden, claims to have the best neighbors in the world.

His neighbors cut 20 tons of hay on Gage's farm for him which he couldn't harvest himself and which they stored in his barn.

And then in the broiling August heat they climbed up on the barn roof and shingled it. It took a score of them to do it, but they finished it in one day, even to the cupola.

Orville Brown Enters Golfer's Hall Of Fame

Attorney Orville Brown, pulled a Believe it Or Not Ripley act, at the Municipal Golf Course recently that is worth mentioning because of its unusual cloak.

It seems according to Owen Penfield Fox, the Field Man at the Muncy course that Brown was playing the ball off Number 5 tee-off, and with all good intentions was bent on putting the ball down the fairway at least 200 or maybe 300 yards.

The ball was hit with terrific force and lo and behold it smacked a tree halfway down the fairway and to the astonished Mr. Brown it came back at him and he calmly put out his hand and caught it.

As far as can be ascertained this is the only record of a man hitting a golf ball that he was able to catch. Joe Kirkwood is a trick golfer and does a lot of queer things with the golf ball, but even a genius of first ranking would have a tough time making a golf ball find its way back.

Maybe this is the start of some new game of hitting golf balls and then catching them. Handball players should be good at this game.

Rev. A. M. Stump Returns From West

Pastor Of St. Paul's Lutheran Church And Family Spend Two Months Touring

Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, and family, have returned to their home on North Jefferson street, after a two month's vacation trip, which was spent in motoring to the western coast and back.

The trip covered 9000 miles and they visited at Yellowstone National Park, Seattle, Washington and west as far north as Vancouver, British Columbia. On the return trip they travelled down the Pacific coast, visiting Mt. Ranier National Park and through the big tree country of Oregon and the Red Woods of California and stopped at San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and San Diego in California and Tia Juana in Mexico.

They also visited the Grand Canyon and Petrified Forest and Pike's Peak, Colorado and came home by the Old National Trail.

The whole trip proved a most delightful one, not even the slightest mishap occurring at any time and from July 1 to the end of the trip only four hot days were experienced and there was rain every day on the trip from the Mojave Desert in California, to Kansas City, Mo., which covered the period from August 8 to 16.

INDIAN PRINCE GREET'S CURTIS

Prince E-Kus-Kini Meets Vice President At Sharon Event

From time to time in recent months, there have appeared in The News, items concerning the Indian people who inhabited this district prior to and for a long time after the advent of white men in this country.

They were from the pen of Prince E-Kus-Kini, a native American, in other words an American Indian, who has been studying Indian lore and history in this section for some time past and had much of interest to tell in his stories.

Prince E-Kus-Kini, who is known in the English language as Eugene Gavin and who is at present located in Youngstown, Ohio, is also known among the native Americans as Sachem of Tellico.

The prince is very active in the interests of the Kinta Okla Society, an organization of native Americans. When Vice-President Charles Curtis was in Sharon last Saturday, he made the most of the opportunity and was present at the celebration in honor of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, and met and shook hands with the vice-president, who is a descendant of a certain group of American Indians and is the Honorary Associate Chief of the Kinta Okla.

He succeeded in doing this at the Sharon Country club and Vice President Curtis accepted it and promised to write Prince E-Kus-Kini a letter on his return to Washington, D. C.

The prince was also successful in getting the autograph of both Vice President Curtis and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

German Commercial And Aviation Leaders Praise Flight Of Big Seaplane

GERMANY JUBILANT OVER NEW SUCCESS

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Aug. 27.—German commercial and aviation leaders, viewing the flight of captain Wolfgang Von Gronau and his companions from the scientific standpoint, were unanimously convinced today that a great practical contribution to transatlantic air route hopes was recorded.

They pointed out that the flight definitely established the feasibility of future commercial aviation routes via Iceland, Greenland and Halifax to New York.

The advantage and worthiness of the seaplane as the preferable vehicle for such service also was stressed.

Germany as a whole was jubilant over success of the flight, praising the fliers for their cool daring and courage.

Air Minister Brandenburg, reiterating previous disavowals that the German government participated in any way in the arrangements and plans for the flight, issued the following statement:

"Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau flew to America on his own responsibility and will continue or discontinue further flights according to his own decisions. He is one of the best and most scientific of German aviators. He has demonstrated that a northern air route between Europe and America is possible at least for a part of the time each year."

May Decide Upon Keeping German Plane On Display

Maurice Dornier, Designer Of Dornier-Wahl Thinks Plane Should Stay In New York

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Aug. 27.—A strong possibility loomed today that the Dornier-Wahl seaplane 4-1422 in which Captain Wolfgang von Gronau and three companions flew from Germany to America would remain permanently anchored in New York harbor.

Maurice Dornier, one of the Dorniers of the airplane designers and constructors, gave hint of the intention after reports that Captain von Gronau told New York officials he would have to ship his plane back to Germany.

"We are now discussing its further disposition," Dornier said. "We believe it's best, perhaps, to leave the plane permanently on display in New York harbor as the first European flying boat to anchor there."

Methodist Alumni Prepare For Picnic

Annual Reunion At Lakewood On Friday Promises To Be Joyous Affair

Friday, August 29, will develop to be a red letter day for the members of the Alumni Association and Sunday school department of the First Methodist church, for on that day, the annual reunion picnic will take place.

Invitations have been received by some 50 members of the association, members of the Methodist Sunday School, their friends and families, and it is believed that this will be the best reunion ever. It will be held in the afternoon and evening at Lakewood Beach, near East Brook.

Transportation from the church will be furnished at 2 p. m. and at 6 p. m. to the picnic grounds. It is believed that quite a large gathering of people will be present.

Committees in charge of arrangements have been making extensive plans that, without a shadow of a doubt, will furnish lots of fun and amusement for all.

In checking in the number of members in the Alumni Association it has been found that there are 555. There were originally 583. In the records it has been found that the first class was in 1894 and was taught by Mrs. E. A. Stephenson. Mr. Bollbeck was then superintendent. Eight Sunday school teachers have died since that time.

Many of the alumni live in cities hundreds of miles from New Castle. A number are in California. Former classmates are hoping that the many cut-of-town alumni will attend.

After delicious plate dinners, a program of sports will be enjoyed. Here is an outline of some of the games, so set in practice:

Married women's balloon race; fat woman's walking race; married men's balloon race; fat men's walking race; girls' spoon race; girls' balloon relay; boy's 100 yard dash; boy's balloon relay; volley ball game; men vs women.

These events will take place at 7:30 p. m. John Leonard is chairman of the sport committee, which consists of Roger Meermans and Miss Sue Cramer.

Seek To Name Railroad For Stalin

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—A group of workers on the new Turkestan-Siberian railroad, petitioned the Council of People's Commissars to rename the railroad in honor of Joseph Stalin, proletarian dictator, calling it "Stalin J. D." meaning Stalin chemin de fer, instead of the Turk-Siberian.

"The rails of the Turk-Sib" the petition said, "are as strong as our leader Comrade Stalin." The leader's adopted Russian revolutionary name means "man of steel."

WILLKES-BARRE, Aug. 27.—In the will of E. Howard Smith, of Hazleton, filed for probate here today $10,000 is set aside for arrest and conviction of any person or persons who would cause his death by foul play.

Wields Fork When Hay Blocks Road

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—Pitchforks are not part of the Highway Patrol, but attaches of the body can use them if necessary. This is shown in the following, and as usual laconic report, rendered by Sergeant P. A. White, of the Coudersport detachment:

"While entering Coudersport from the West on the Roosevelt Highway I was suddenly confronted by an obstruction entirely blocking the highway. Upon nearing the obstruction I noted that it was a load of hay, and from some people nearby I learned that it had slipped from a truck which had passed that point. There was about a ton of it (the hay)."

"As traffic was unable to pass this point, a pitchfork was secured from a farmer and the Timothy was removed from this highway, via the said tool. After performing the above-mentioned duty continued on patrol. Traffic light, roads dry, weather fair."

Builder Of 1878 Dirigible That Flew 100 Feet Is Dead

Bethlehem Musician's Craft, On Cigar-Shaped Lines Like Modern Ones, Failed On Trial Flight By Broken Seam

BETHLEHEM, Aug. 27.—Caesar Spiegel, 78, a wealthy retired oculist, musician and builder of a dirigible 52 years ago died at his home here this week. He came from Germany and resided in this city 71 years.

July 3, 1878, was a most eventful day of Spiegel's life. It was the day for the trial flight of his model airship, which he made after a copy from an experiment by Dr. Augustin M. Leinbach, of this city, who died more than 40 years ago.

The plot of land, on which the home of Congressman Major William Radcliffe Coyle now stands, was used as the flying field. It was inclosed by a high board fence, so the crowds could not molest the fliers.

Admission to the field was set at $1. What the spectators saw when they passed the gates was a big elliptical gas bag. It resembled a huge cigar more than anything else and John

Wise, of Lancaster, a famous balloonist at the time, hired to fly the ship, objected strongly to the construction, his contention being that the bag should have been made in shape of a round ball.

Beneath it was a cage, completely inclosed, made of light wicker work, with a door and one window. It was suspended close under the gas bag by large straps passed over the top. Projecting from the rear of the cage were two geared propellers. Another light shaft extended beyond the extreme end of which was attached a light rudder.

The ship took one short flight. It ascended not more than 100 feet, when the seam of the gas bag ripped, allowing the contents to escape. Because of lack of finance, the experiment was given up. However, it stirred up a lot of ideas and comment in this section and Mr. Spiegel was given much praise for his efforts.

Those in Farrell, and Joe O'Hearn at Grove City, Mr. Whalen will look after the machines in Sharon and Sharpsville, and have general supervision of the others.

The week of September 8 the county commissioners, Mr. Whalen and his deputies will go to the factory in Jamestown, where they will receive instructions in the operation of the machines, and on their return the custodians will instruct the different election boards where the machines are to be used.

The machines are fully equipped to accommodate up to nine tickets and there will be no question as to their ability to accommodate this fall's ballot.

Rolph And Fitts Lead Voting In Coast Primary

Mayor Rolph Of San Francisco And District Attorney Byron Fitts Get Many Votes

GOVERNOR YOUNG IS POOR THIRD

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—With Mayor James Rolph Jr. of San Francisco taking a big lead in Northern California and District Attorney Byron Fitts of Los Angeles winning that county by a wide margin, the fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination today appeared to have narrowed to these two contenders.

Governor C. C. Young seemed to be out of the contest, running a poor third.

Rolph appeared certain to win San Francisco from Fitts by fifty to sixty thousand votes, while it is anticipated that Fitts will beat Rolph in Los Angeles county by about the same number of votes.

With these two population centers neutralizing each other, the verdict on who shall have the nomination—the equivalent to election—will come from other parts of the state.

San Francisco's mayor was leading Fitts in virtually every county north of the Tehachapi mountains, which divides the state both geographically and in opinions. Every indication was that Rolph would carry Alameda county, across the bay from San Francisco, by ten to twenty thousand votes.

Fitts had a lead in two southern California counties. Rolph however, was leading him in San Diego, the most liberal of the southern counties.

WOMAN JUDGE GIVES HER VIEWS

Pennsylvania's Only Woman
Jurist Says Women Have Same Judicial Views
As Men

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Mrs. M. Soffel, Pennsylvania's first—and, at present, only—woman jurist, cleaned up her legal business and submitted gracefully to an interview preparatory to taking the oath of office.

Miss Soffel was appointed by Governor John S. Fisher to the Allegheny county court bench to succeed Judge Sylvester Snee.

She was all smiles and sun-tanned today, the aftermath of a summer vacation at Cranberry Island, Me., where she tussled with bass and whopped the streams where lurk the wary trout.

Asked whether she thought women have the same judicial sensibilities as men, Miss Soffel answered in emphatic fashion.

"Absolutely!" she said. "They have, without any doubt whatever the same point of view as males."

"Are you going to run for election next year?" she was asked.

Her eyes twinkled as she answered one question with another:

"Why wouldn't I?"

Incidentally, Miss Soffel wants the world to know that she doesn't want members of the fair sex to rule the universe exclusively and she doubts "if anything like that will ever happen."

Asks For Clothing For Children Here

Superintendent Ben J. Watkins of the City Rescue Mission has directed a plea to New Castle residents for articles of children's clothing, outgrown by the persons wearing them. The mission is being pressed with more demands for clothing as school opening nears, he said.

Mr. Watkins pointed out that many children need clothing before they can start in school, and unless they get it cannot go. Calls to the mission will be answered by the mission truck.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—I attended a spiritualist meeting the other night, and several speakers made much of the fact that Sir Conan Doyle had reappeared—one of them mentioning

the fact that a number of people saw him on the platform "in his dress suit."

I don't know whether there's anything in spiritualism or not. I do know this, however: If I thought the Lord was going to hamper me with a dress suit for all eternity I'd want somebody to explain the use of dying star, ever accorded an American fashion was the guest of honor on Sunday of the Duke of Manchester at a party given for her at his home, Bat-tlemeade on the Thames. Sophie is spending ten hours a day at rehearsals of "Follow a Star," a musical show which will open at the Adelphi theatre, London, the beginning of September.

Of course, it's none of my business,

but if Sophie is going to spend ten hours a day rehearsing, and in between times race around to parties

by the Duke of Manchester, the

Duchess of Twinchins, Lord and Lady

Tornsock, the Countess of Whiffletree and Is Grace, the Earl of Scallion, she's going to lose a lot of that weight she went to so much trouble to put on in the early part of the summer.

I don't suppose anything that I'd say would have much effect on Sophie.

One of the strongest appeals that can't get her to take better care of herself? You know what that London fast set is.

MORE ABOUT SOPHIE!

I got another letter from Paula

Gould, the female Boswell of Sophie

Tucker. Here's what she says:

"Sophie Tucker, who is being enter-the other half, scrapping, scrapping about what's art and what isn't, where does the poor old Man-in-the-Ford get a look in?

It's the clever impotency of the Highbrow that keeps most of us

chained to the commonplace.

TRANSLATING AMERICAN!

Just how idiomatic the American language is as it falls from the lips of our favorite screen players we sometimes forget. In London the national screen service has issued for

English use a list of Americanisms and their British translations. It is interesting to note the number of very familiar terms requiring interpretation for our cousins across the sea. They translate All Jake, Four-

flusher, Buck, Cinch, Hunch, Dame

Sap, Hooper and all the rest pretty accurately. The word Bum, they say, means "a low fellow," and their equivalent for Sucker is "mug." They think that a racketeer means a "blackmail-er" and go to elaborate pains to make clear that Howdy means "How do you do?"

I say! Looky 'ere now!

PENTHOUSE DWELLERS

Old Peter Cooper used to amble around New York years ago worrying about the space that went to waste on rooftops. The idea of a penthouse never occurred to him. That was reserved for this luxurious generation.

I visited one of these roof-top dwellings the other day. It was like a bungalow in the sky. They had a roof garden, French windows leading from the living room to an awning-shielded, wide front step of red glazed brick, strewn with rugs and wicker furniture.

We had luncheon out there. It would have been a veritable dreamland if it hadn't been for the fact that ever and anon a cinder or two from an adjacent chimney spattered the vittles.

I overcame my objection to this by remembering the enormous rent the folks were paying for the sky-house.

Pent houses are responsible for a plek-up in the telescope trade. The sky-dwellers, seeking new roof diversions, have taken to squinting through telescopes. Peeping at the Pleiades is quite the latest swanky wrinkle.

James French Wins Caddie Tournament

Makes Best Score Ever Made At Field Club Course By A Caddie

PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED LATER

Caddie tournament at the New Castle Field club this week, proved to be the best contest of the kind ever held at the Field Club course and the boys contesting for the caddie championship of the club, presented the finest type of golf that has ever been displayed in a contest of the kind in this section.

The boys were divided into two groups, the older and more experienced playing a sweepstake event with handicaps, while the more youthful caddies played the course without handicaps.

To James French goes the honor of winning the tournament this year and winning he had to play a type of golf that was equal to that played by older heads in the game. His gross score was 81 and having a handicap of 8, his net score was 73. He played the first nine holes in 41 and the last nine in 40, which is but 7 above the par of the course.

In the second group of more youthful players, Mike Evangelist was the winner with a score of 93 in making the round of the course. When it is considered that the first four boys in this group, who were from twelve to fourteen years of age, all made the course in a hundred or less, it must be understood that a majority of the boys in the competition were playing first class golf and golf that is to be reckoned with from any player.

There will be five prize winners in each group and the prizes will be awarded when the annual banquet of the club to the caddies is held about the middle of October.

The affair was held under the supervision of Captain V. Arthur Smith, club professional and Angelo Monsey, caddie master. The boys in the competition were permitted to use the clubs of the members of the field club.

Newer And Lighter Golf Ball Will Be Used Exclusively

After January Golf Ball Manufacturers Will Cease To Make Smaller Ball

Everyone Seems Agreed Now That New 1.68 Size Ball Is Best One To Use

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The really heinous nature of a ruling, by which a larger and lighter golf ball is to be placed in American circulation after January 1 next, was revealed for the first time today when it was admitted at the offices of the United States Golf association that no other golf ball is likely to be available to anybody after the dead line in question. As a matter of fact, this wasn't an admission exactly; it appeared to be a boast.

All of the leading manufacturers, it seems, are committed to making only the new 1.68 ball. It even is my understanding that they plan soon to stop turning out the old type of ball in the hope that in the meantime they will exhaust the supply and leave no surplus when the bars go up.

Will Favor Dub.

Thus it appears that a regulation which everybody deemed to have been aimed mostly at the low handicap and tournament player, is to be visited alike upon J. William Chickadee, head, who is improving right straight along and is liable to break 115 almost any day. The new ball, it is said, will do Chickadee a lot of good, which statement only serves to confirm an impression I have held about America for some time, it seems to be a country composed of 110,000,000 people—and those who know what is best for us.

The populace has only one effective rejoinder in this connection, but it is not to suffice. It listens very attentively and then does what pleases its fancy. In this case, its fancy does not appear to run to larger and lighter golf balls. These have been available at most courses for upward of a year, yet I dare say that you see one of them being played to one thousand of the others. It is reasonable to assume, therefore, that the average American doesn't want what is best for him. He is a fastidious man and is very particular about what ball he misses his golf shots with.

Only Experiment.

As a matter of fact, the whole matter is a legislative stepchild that has been left on the American doorstep. The child is of the American parent but its care and upbringing is to become strictly an American responsibility. They started it by asking us if we didn't wish a larger and lighter ball. We said yes, and this naturally pleased them immensely.

"That's fine," they replied, "because personally we don't want it at all." So we are finding ourselves committed to an experiment, to which not even the authors are favorably inclined, they have turned their backs upon it with marked hauteur and, having persuaded America that it is doing a big thing in a big way, they are prepared to go on hitting the ball firmly and with much resolution.

I suspect, of course, that the problem, so typical of modern America, will be solved in the modern American way. The "bootleg" bill, pre-1930 stock right out of the old bicycle shoe ought to have a brisk sale.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

George Godfrey made quick work of Arthur de Kuh at Cleveland last night. He knocked out Arthur in the fourth round. Godfrey put Arthur down five times in the third and twice in the fourth before he uncorked the knockout punch.

Chuck Klein's home run record made for the Phils in 1929 was fractured yesterday when Hack Wilson, formerly of Ellwood Cwy, made his forty-fourth home run of the season. He is now even with Babe Ruth.

The home run came off the delivery of Larry French of the Pittsburgh Pirates. In addition to slugging the home run Wilson got a single and a sacrifice. The latter accounted for two runs the Chi-Cubs got.

Jean Borotra, the French basque will complete in the national singles tennis championship at Forest Hills next month, according to New York reports.

Frankie Campbell, 26, San Francisco heavy, died in a San Francisco hospital yesterday from the effects of a boxing bout in which he engaged with Max Baer as an opponent.

Shortly before the boxer died, his wife absolved Baer from blame. Jack Dempsey has classed Campbell and Baer as two of the leading heavyweights on the coast.

Tony Canzoneri put a feather in his cap last night by beating Goldie Hess of California at New York. He is to fight Al Singer for the title soon. In Detroit, Baby Joe Gans outpointed Joe Ruggazzoni.

Billy Arnold, Altoona and Indianapolis was this year's strongest bidder for the A. A. A. championships is turning up for the 200 mile speed event at the Tipton oval next Monday.

Qualifications at Altoona will be open Thursday continue Friday and Saturday. Twenty-two cars have been entered and it will be necessary to eliminate 10 before the starter's flag flashes Monday.

A large number of persons who are interested in horsemanship will travel to Butler, Monday, to see the State Police Track and Field meet. State police from all over Pennsylvania will compete.

Harry T. Farrell of Nanticoke has been reappointed as a member of the state boxing and wrestling commission for a term of two years. Frank Wiener and Havey Boyle are the other members.

Mahoning and Scarazzo are practicing for the series they are to play for the independent championship of the city. The first game will be played Friday at Centennial Field. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock p. m. fast time.

Twenty-five Carnegie Tech gridiron aspirants will report to Coach Bob Waddell to start preparations for the 1930 campaign when Thursday arrives. It is believed that 40 will complete the squad Monday when Coach Steffen arrives.

Romeo Pacelli who boxed several times in Pittsburgh after scoring impressive victories here has journeyed from Detroit to New York. He is trying to get started in Gotham. Romeo will visit here Christmas.

Two good bouts could probably be arranged for this city, one between Frenchy Belanger and Phil Tobias and another a return scrap between Haakon Hansen and Henry Firpo. Hansen recently put the quietus on Firpo.

Kegarise Makes Hole-In-One On Municipal Links

Ralph Kegarise Joins Select Circle Of Golfers With Ace At Public Links

IS EXTRAORDINARY SHOT WITH IRON

Ralph Kegarise, 215 Euclid avenue, local well known flier, and now a must say golfer par excellence, got the thrill of his life, and it wasn't by any plane motor stalling either, it happened at the Municipal golf course last night and it was a hole-in-one.

To the man who hasn't been bitten by the golf bug this means absolutely nothing, nil or anything you care to mention that denotes a total abstract, but to the golfer player the making of an ace is the realization of a life's ambition, a dream that seems unreal.

Kegarise playing the second-nine holes at the Municipal Course last evening with C. F. McGill of New Castle and Louis Routman and M. A. Groden of Ellwood City got his hole-in-one on the 16th green. It is a 176 yard par three hole and is down in the valley so to speak. You tee-off from what looks like a small sized mountain, only it isn't. Kegarise used an iron in making the shot, or to the person who doesn't play golf a club with an iron face, possibly a mashie or midiron.

Is Certified

The caddies accompanying the foursome and who also witnessed the hole-in-one were Dan Morelli, Leon Chrobak and Frank Temerski. The boys were at the bottom of the hill near the green when the shot was made and saw the ball trickled over the green and land smack in the cup. Games. Ineligibility will take this valuable grider away from the first eleven.

Harry Crisci who looked good in the spring night event will be fighting hard for a berth on the eleven, as will Steve Janovick, Charles Schep, Pericles Askounes and James Mike. Last season men have not reported yet. It is more than likely that these pigskin catchers will be in there for a berth. Nick Uram another veteran from last season is also back.

Mike DeCarbo, John Uram, Fred Hileman, Coy Hubbard, Andy Lasky, William Ciccone, Luther Rowe, Ludwig Ostrosky and LeRoy Turk are others who have reported from last season. You can see for yourself that the prospects for a good team this year are not so bad.

The first practice of the fall camp will be held on Monday morning at 10:30. The second session will take place on Monday afternoon.

Colonel Woodcock says he wants his prohibition agents to be gentlemen. Now the question is does that include carrying their liquor like gentlemen?—The Flint Daily Journal.

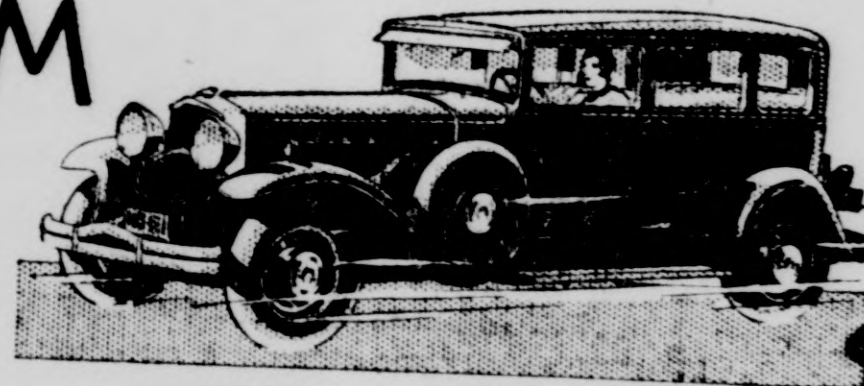

There are a number of valuable prizes connected with this business and Mr. Kegarise may have to land a lone or two at the golf course to carry home the spoils.

Ellwood Coach Calls Gridders To First Meeting

Coach Ingle Issues Call For Grid Candidates To Report This Afternoon

PROSPECTS LOOK QUITE PROMISING

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—It won't be long now!

With the opening of school just one week away Ellwood City high school will blow its call for the griders this afternoon at 3 o'clock when Coach Bob Ingle will summon the boys at the Lincoln field and get under way for the season. Ingle will have an able assistant this year with Todd Lloyd replacing Dick Bartholomew. Local fans will be sorry to hear that Bartholomew will not return to his duties here this year as he has accepted a higher position at Altoona, his home town.

Bartholomew won fame here with his brilliant work in producing several track stars and placed Ellwood on the map with the splendid performance of his pupils. His outstanding achievement took place this year as his blue and white lads made track history with Mike Dunn winning the Pennsylvania long hurdle and Paul MacMurdo the western Pennsylvania half mile crown.

His vacancy will be filled by Todd Lloyd, a former Ellwood City high school and Geneva college athlete. Lloyd needs no introduction to local sport followers as he coached Zelenko high school in 1928-29. He produced two good teams there and is expected to be of great assistance to Ingle this year.

Besides Ingle and Lloyd the blue and white will have Raymond Ralston to help with the building of the grid machine. He is a former Geneva performer and has had one year of coaching experience.

There is a difficult task before the coaches this year in building up a strong eleven. Only two members of last year's first team will be on hand. They are Captain Benny Rocco, guard, and Sam Neff, end. Last year's second string will furnish the following material: Howie Fanno, Wilson, ends; Jenkins, tackle; Shuler, center; Nye and Rossman, guards. There will also be a few from the third string, which include Condi, Kennedy, Cunningham, McKim, Vogt, Strouse, Zeigler and Cavalier.

Following is Ellwood's schedule for 1930:

Sept. 27—Open.
Oct. 4—Butler at home.
Oct. 11—Beaver Falls away.
Oct. 18—Greene City at home.
Oct. 25—Alliquippa at home.
Nov. 1—Monaca away.
Nov. 8—New Brighton at home.
Nov. 15—Rochester at home.

Radio Ruined When House Is Struck By Lightning Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—A three hundred dollar radio was ruined when the home of C. K. Bixon at 133 Cedar street was struck by lightning Monday night during the electrical storm.

From what can be learned, the tower at the city was struck, carrying the streak of lightning over the Connoquessing creek up the hill to the home on Cedar street, where it hit the aerial line, in spite of the fact that Mr. Bixon had a lightning resistor placed on his house-top.

The radio was not turned on at the time the lightning struck, but it had not been disconnected. Mrs. Bixon who was standing nearby, lost the use of her right arm for a short time and today suffers considerably from the shock.

Richard Humphreys, 45, Found Fatally Slashed In Room At Ellwood

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Richard Humphreys, aged 45, died in the Ellwood hospital last night at 8:30 from wounds inflicted with his razor, at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday.

His landlady, Mrs. Mary Unger, of Fourth street, discovered him lying in a pool of blood on the floor when she went to his room to deliver a letter. He had a deep gash in his throat and chest.

According to Frank Conner, a fellow roomer, he saved Humphreys from possible death on the railroad tracks near the Unger home Monday night. He said that he was intoxicated at the time. Conners ordered him away. Later Humphreys was arrested on Lawrence avenue by Constable Elmer Frischhorn for drunkenness. He was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace, S. V. Douds Tuesday morning which concluded in a warning that should he cause more trouble he would be locked up.

The deceased has been a resident of Ellwood for two years, employed during that period at the National Tube Company. He is survived by a son living in the west and a daughter at Wheeling, W. Va. Members of the family have been notified and it is expected that they will be here today to complete arrangements for the funeral.

Rapp's Feed Store Robbed Of Flour

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Several barrels of flour and an empty cash register disappeared from George Rapp's feed store in Wurttemberg sometime between 8:00 p. m. Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Sunday afternoon the cash register, badly damaged was found on the side hill about two miles from the store, by T. J. Mehard, and recognized on account of papers in the drawer bearing Mr. Rapp's name.

When the store owner left Saturday night, he says that he closed the rear window, which was open when he entered the store the following day. Marks were on the frame where a bar had possibly been used in aiding the opening.

Several barrels of flour are missing, valued at more than one hundred dollars. The cash register was a new one and had been emptied of its day's returns in the afternoon, when the money was banked for the week.

It is believed by the detectives working on the job that the thieves did not ascertain as to the contents of the register until they got away from the store, in order to save time, and when they returned to their state, threw it over a hill in a desolate part of the country, expecting no one to pass by and make its discovery until it was past recognition.

A business session preceded the social time after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. George Hemmery.

A special guest of the evening was Mrs. Jenny Harper of Slippery Rock, Rev. F. L. Teets and family, former pastor of the local church and now of Point Marion stopped for a short visit, on their way to western points.

Safety Director Speaks At Shelby Social Committee Of Woman's Club Give Benefit Bridge Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—C. E. Sankey, safety director of the National Tube Company, with headquarters in Pittsburgh is in Ellwood speaking at safety meetings conducted throughout the mill.

Mr. Sankey in his address stresses safety first after which and because of which production follows. In speaking of safety, he said that the direct reason for safety usually was the family depending upon the individual who was working. In order to take care of these dependents, the men were bound to safety, and should consider it first, on account of these loved ones.

In continuing, he said, "If a man tries to hurry his job and is careless concerning his own safety, it not only causes his loved ones to suffer but brings down the production. So it is for your sake and ours that we urge precaution."

In conclusion, Mr. Sankey urged the foremen to get next to their men. Find out about their home life. The number of children and whether or not all was well. These matters of human interest not only make you foreman understand your men better, but make you more understanding," he said.

Five hundred games were enjoyed and honors went to Mrs. Albert Wilson and Mrs. Clyde Bernan.

Special guests of the evening were: Mrs. H. Brown of Frisco and Mrs. Nick.

Delicious refreshments were served in the course of the evening by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Harry Dougherty.

Wilson's 'Homer' Breaks Record

Hack Turns In Forty Fourth Home Run To Beat Klein's Mark

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Hack Wilson, the squatly slugger of the Cubs cracked the home run hitting record of the National League yesterday by clouting his forty-fourth circuit blow of the season to climax Chicago's 7-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The home run, made off Larry French in the seventh, exceeded by one the mark set by Chuck Klein of Philadelphia. It also put Wilson on even terms with Babe Ruth in the fight for 1930 home run honors.

In addition to the homer, Hack singled and got a sacrifice fly to drive in four of the Cub's runs. The single was made with the bases full in the fifth, driving in two of the five runs Chicago scored in that inning to settle the game.

Except for that one bad inning French and Blake had a close duel. Blake allowed 12 hits to nine but was effective in the pinches. Lloyd Waner hit a home run for the Pirates. The box score:

Hays To Start Auto Races Here
Fair Ground Track Under Preparations For Speed Events

Sam Gibson of Youngstown, "Red" Kynett of Sebring, Louis Guiley of Akron, and Ernie Jones and Ken Dunlap, both of Canton, make up a quintet of Buckeye State speed kings who have finally filed their entries for this city's inaugural 100-mile gasoline derby to be staged on the local fair grounds Labor Day afternoon.

Gibson will be at the wheel of the fast Frontenac racing creation that only a few years ago was plotted with such phenomenal success on the big board speedways by A. B. "Deacon" Litz, the titanic racing celebrity whose roaring road achievements were almost as great as his physique.

Joe Baker, who, with Jack Casey, Lawrence "Mike" Hickson and Billy Schempp—all of whom have entered the Labor Day century classic here—make up the quartet nicknamed the "Pittsburgh Four Horsemen" by their rivals, tooled this season Frontenac in duels with death last season.

Jack Casey, who carried it over the finish-line triumphantly this year, it was Decoration Day at Dawson, Pa., one of the smallest spots but biggest hotbeds of the speed sport on the automobile racing map due to its proximity to the old Uniontown Board Speedway—one of the first in the East. His signal victory was at its helm following the smashing of his car in practice.

Has Beat Chittum.
"Sunny Bill" Chittum, acknowledged dirt track champion of the country since the death a few weeks ago of "Dutch" Baumann of Indianapolis, Ind., was one of the stars of the speed sport, Casey vanquished, winning with the Youngstown car from the Columbus, Oh., tractor trail in a close finish.

With these additions being made daily to the ranks of Ohio and other Middle Western invaders, the contingent of Western Pennsylvania defenders ready to repel them in their efforts to carry off the laurels and honors is rapidly bolstering up its strength. Howard Patterson of Ambridge, Pa., and Andy Havlicek of Uniontown, are two of the latest additions to this band.

This latest information relative to the century classic was revealed to Secretary John S. Crowl of the New Castle Agricultural Association, on his arrival here today by Jack Hayes, veteran and pioneer racing pilot, who will fill the role of starter of the holiday century classic. His activities preliminary to the Labor Day 100-mile gruelling grind will be to get the course in shape for it and reduce the danger of the drivers to a minimum while paving the way of increasing the speed of their cars to a maximum.

Dead men tell no tales. However, in Chicago they leave behind them safety deposit boxes.—The Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Spying On Sports

By WILLIAM RITT Central Press Sports Editor.

As they speed on their second National League pennant the Chicago Cubs ruin a perfectly good baseball tradition, a tradition as mellow with years and regarded as much an inexorable law as the belief that all left-handers are a trifle eccentric.

A championship team, went the old tradition, cannot be wrecked by injuries in mid-season and then be patched sufficiently to go on and win another pennant. It never done before. But it bids fair to happen this season.

In April, with their 1929 lineup intact, the Cubs looked all set. Almost all sport writers picked them to repeat, because they were not only as strong looking as last year, but actually appeared stronger, with Gabby Hartnett, erstwhile star catcher, returned to form.

Then things happened and in a big way. Illness and injuries plagued the Cubs worse than any other outfit in the majors. Manager Joe McCarthy was forced to shift his infield over and over again, as one by one his stars dropped out of the lineup. The entire infield had to be revamped and part of the outfield, too.

Chicago Drive Historic.
Staggering from its many handicaps, the Chicago club put up a battle throughout the torrid months which must go down into history as a great baseball achievement, an achievement that stamps Manager Joe McCarthy for what he is, a great baseball manager.

The Brooklyn Robins, going at top speed, were unable to distance the Cubs, wrecked though the Chicagoans were. McCarthy—it seems incredible—kept his cripples and greenhorns going at the same hot pace that marked the Robins' stride.

The line-up that has beaten off the Robins and is fighting to draw away from the Giants can be said to be follows—since this is the usual lineup of the new team or August Cubs: Hartnett, catcher; George Kelly, first base; Clarence Blair, second; Doc Farrell, short; English, third; Dan Taylor, Cuyler and Wilson, outfielders.

Of the eight regulars who started out on the pennant path in April only three may play at their regular posts in the world series—if the Cubs get into the fall classic. They are Hartnett, Cuyler and Wilson.

The thick, round slugger of the Chicago Cubs smashed his forty-fourth home-baser of the season yesterday to climax a 7 to 5 victory of the Cubs over Pittsburgh. The mighty blow beat the total hung up in 1929 by Chuck Klein of the Phillies. The triumph placed the Cubs five and one-half games ahead in the pennant pursuit.

Washington's threat to make the American League contest slightly exciting than an afternoon of bridge temporarily halted as the Athletics staged an eighth inning rally meeting netting four runs and triumphed over the Senators 10 to 9. Mickey Cochrane and Al Simmons both got homers in the final frame. The failure of the Senators advanced the A's to a seven and one-half game lead.

The St. Louis Cardinals crept almost on top of the third place Brooklyn Robins by lowering away the Reds 3 to 1. Wild Bill Hallahan gave Cincinnati only six hits and stopped a ninth batter by fanning Striped and forcing Walker to fly out.

Other teams were not scheduled. The Giants and Robins today open a four game series which ultimately may determine the runner-up honors in the national league. Bill Walker will probably pitch for the men of Manhattan and Watson Clark likely will be the choice for Brooklyn.

Classified Ads are like door knobs. They open the way to assist you in disposing of what you have to sell, rent or wish to buy.

After you write your ad—read it over and see if you would be interested if you were in the market for the article advertised. Too many people use the minimum space regardless of whether they have clearly given all information needed.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Industrial And Utility Stocks Make Progress

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Though hampered at the start by profit taking and short selling, the forward move in the favorite Industrial and Utility stocks made further progress in the early trading today. United States Steel advanced an additional point to 172 1/2, before encountering very much selling volume, and the same ground was gained by American Can. Case Threshing, Gold Dust and other favorites. The turnover of the first half-hour was 44,000 shares, more than double the sales recorded in the same period yesterday.

Speculative interest in the second hour shifted to the foodstuffs stocks, the Amusements and the Electrical manufacturing stocks, many of which sold at the highest prices on the move. Baldwin Locomotive pushed above 30 for the first time on the move. General foods sold above 57 and Gold Dust was taken in large blocks at 42. General theatres equipment, Radio Keith and Loews reached the best levels since the June break, the former topped 34 1/2 and the latter above 35. Fox advanced a point to 48.

Calumet and Arizona mining, on which the cash dividend was passed yesterday, dropped back 3 points to 49 at the start, but promptly recovered to 51.

Bohn Aluminum lost 3 points at 25 and International Tel and Tel sold a point lower. Vanadium was under fire near the noon period and slipped off 3 points to 83 1/2. Oil stocks were unable to gain any ground and only slight fractional gains were recorded for the active Rails. Studebaker was the favorite in the motor group and sold up 1 1/4 at 31.

Racketeers Terrorize Milk, Food Industry, Victimizing Public

Aaron Sapiro, New York lawyer, who gained fame by his leadership in a huge wheat co-operative, now threatens to launch unfair competition proceedings against Dairymen's League in New York, while state begins probe of increase in milk prices. Sapiro represents a group which also raised its prices.

By ALEXANDER HERMAN
Central Press Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Racketeering, the nation's fastest growing industry, has just tapped a new font of fortune—in the milk can.

Although operations of the new milk gang were started on August 11th, they are already flourishing at a $60,000,000 a year profit in this city alone!

Compared to the hazards of rum-running, hi-jacking, or even labor trouble brewing, the new racket is a cinch. Of course, investigation by the state's attorney general's office may cause a little public unpopularity for a time; but the racketeers, perpetual optimists, are not worrying.

When they find their milk game bottled up, they expect to turn to other commodities. As a matter of fact, they have already started keeping cheaper eggs out of the state; and they seem prepared to go right down the line of necessary commodities.

An Alluring Field
The food field, because of its essential demand, has always been alluring to racketeers. There have been scandals about poultry delivery (culminating in the famous Baff murder of a decade ago), butchers' supplies, pushcart protection, and the like. And the milk business—even before the drought—proved so attractive Larry Fay, a successful night club promoter, turned from Broadway's milky way to another. He, together with 140 others, is now under indictment for running the old milk ring.

But the new racket is much more above board than the old—which was besmirched somewhat by an over-watering of the milk, and a lowering of its grade. It operates exclusively in the price field.

Taking the news of the summer drought as its excuse, these racketeers, operating as independent suppliers of milk to the retail stores, announced on the morning of the 11th that milk would wholesale at $1.40 a can of 40 quarts, or 11 cents a quart. Before this the shopkeepers were able to get the milk as low as five cents the quart. Naturally there was a loud squawk; and many dealers refused to pay the higher price. But when they started to seek other sources of supply they ran into the regulation racketeer technique—strong arm threats, even of death.

Cut Off Supplies
The shopkeepers were forced to put up signs in their windows announcing the boost to 12 cents a quart for the retail trade. Those who refused to do this found their supplies cut off.

New York City consumes about 2,750,000 quarts of this loose milk daily; and the added price brings an extra profit of $165,000 daily, $1,150,000 weekly, or $60,000,000 annually. This does not go to the farmer who supplies the city with 3,500,000 quarts daily—more than is needed. It goes to the racketeers. But just who these are is not yet known. But a detailed state investigation, now being conducted by Assistant Attorney General William E. Groat Jr., expects to throw light on the subject.

"We are going to put the guilty persons behind the bars," says this investigator.

But even as he talks, officers of the Utah Association, a farmer's co-operative, who are ready to supply the city with five carloads of eggs daily five cents below the market prices, find their customers scared off.

One dealer, who went into their warehouse to avail himself of the lower prices, found his truck tires slashed to bits when he came out.

"I look surprised," says Anthony Protano, who lost more in the damage to his truck than he could make up on the bargain in the eggs, "and a man comes up to me and says: 'Where do you get your eggs?'"

"I answers: 'In the Utah place.' And he replies: 'That's why you got your tires cut.'"

Others testifying at the hearing tell of even more serious scares—for some have been threatened with a "bumping off" if they protest too much or refuse to buy from the prescribed dealers.

Naturally some of the legitimate wholesalers joined the band wagon of higher prices, too. And they have come under the censure of the investigation, as well as the others.

One such group is defended by Aaron Sapiro, prominent lawyer, who gained fame for his leadership of a gigantic wheat co-operative and his million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford. He says that he has received 150 complaints from independent dealers that subsidiaries of the Dairymen's League were stealing customers. Sapiro adds that he is preparing to launch unfair competition proceedings against the league before the federal trade commission.

Injection of such issues tends to further confuse the public and obscures the many-sided activities of the pure racketeers who certainly are reaping a fine harvest even during a summer of depression and bad breaks.

Low Stage Of Shenango Hits Mills At Sharon

Curtailed Production Is Forced; Need Of Pymatung Dam Shown

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 27.—Shenango Valley mills, annually inconvenienced through the summer months by lack of water in the Shenango River, were forced to suspend operations over the past week because of the water shortage, it was learned today. As a result, production was decreased and scores of workmen lost time and money.

Although a half-inch of rainfall was recorded Saturday and Sunday, river conditions were not benefited materially and the plants this week, are being operated under the great difficulties which have been experienced for the past several weeks.

The Farrell plant of the American Steel & Wire Company was forced to suspend operations from last Thursday until Monday and the bar mills at the Farrell plant of the Carnegie Steel Company also shut down Saturday. The blast furnace and open hearths at the latter plant continued to work by using water from the city mains, greatly increasing the cost of production, plant officials said today.

The present river flow is about 11,000,000 gallons daily, according to the records of engineers at the Carnegie plant. This is less than one-fifth of the requirements at the three local plants of the United States Steel Corporation, which total 60,000,000 gallons daily.

Under present conditions, which occur to some extent each summer, the plants can continue to operate only by using the same water many times. This is very unsatisfactory. Most of the water is used for cooling purposes, but by its repeated use, its efficiency as a cooling medium is reduced greatly.

During the last week, the river temperature at the Farrell plants reached 107 degrees, while the temperature of the plant water increased to from 130 to 140 degrees.

Such conditions, according to industrial officials, greatly handicap the local plants in keeping down the cost of production and maintaining operating efficiency. Still worse, they preclude further expansion of local industries, and, to a great extent, prove a barrier to the securing of new industries.

The only answer to this important problem, according to industrial and civic leaders, is the early completion of the Pymatung Dam, which would alleviate existing conditions in both the Shenango and Beaver Valleys. This important project, started several years ago, is well under way, but is being delayed by the lack of further appropriations for its completion.

The recent drought, it was pointed out, proves that the dam is a necessity to a great section of the state for the assurance of a water supply sufficient to operate its industries, while conditions any worse would seriously affect the supply for domestic use.

CHINESE PLANT USED TO MAKE CHINESE SOUP

It can be found in the garden of Charlie Lee at the corner of N. Liberty street and E. Madison avenue. It is a patch of green plants that are about two feet high, very unassuming in appearance, and with a small green pod amongst the leaves.

All summer the most expert gardeners of the seventh ward have passed Charlie's garden and gazed curiously at the patch of mystery plant. And perhaps there has been a little envy in those gazes, too.

And so the other day a couple of garden enthusiasts asked Charlie Lee the name of the plant in his garden. Charlie grinned and shrugged his shoulders. It was a Chinese plant, he said. And it's used? "Soup," Charlie replied. What kind of soup? they asked. "Chinese soup," Charlie replied.

Gangster Records May Lead To Probe For Income Taxes

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Records seized in the luxurious apartment of Joseph and Dominick Aiello, North Side gang leaders, revealing annual incomes of more than a million dollars, were given the federal internal revenue department today and may result in prosecution for income tax frauds.

Evidence of the huge incomes enjoyed by the gangster chiefs was seized in a raid by operatives investigating the murders of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, racketeer reporter, and Jack Zuta, gangster partner of Aiello brothers.

Income tax investigations are expected to follow, according to revenue department officials.
